THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXII. ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 28, 1891. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

A STEAL KNOCKED OUT.

THE SHIPPING BILL AT FIRST REJECTED,

AND THEN IT IS RECONSIDERED,

But Subsequently Thrown Out in Favor of a Substitute Which Defeats the Purpose of the Lobby.

WASHINGTON, February 27.—[Special.]—The subsidy shipping steal was knocked out in the house tonight, after one of the most fiercely contested battles of the session.

So to the heroic fight of the democrats, reinforced by a handful of patriotic republicans, is due the credit of having saved the people of this country from a burden of from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000 annually.

In lieu of that, a mild postal subsidy bill, appropriating not more than $1,000,000 annually for ten years, passed the house. But that will be a mild, sugar-coated pill for the taxpayers to swallow after having escaped from the awful dose the republicans had threatened.

It was a gigantic struggle, lasting till midnight. The debate proper began at 10 o'clock this morning and lasted until 5 o'clock this afternoon. The democrats pounded the bill vigorously in short speeches, while the republicans defended it. More lobbyists came in this morning, and the halls and galleries have been literally packed with them all day. Gould's Pacific Mail Company; the Cramps, of Philadelphia; the Ward steamship line, running between New York and Havana, and various other ship builders and owners had their agents here. Aaron Vanderbilt and Charles S. Hill, the latter well known in Augusta, are among the conspicuous figures in the lobby. There are, however, an hundred others. Not since the Pacific mail steal went through, some years ago, has such a bold and brazen lobby infested the capitol. All during the debate today, they rushed about the halls with hands full of telegrams. Every member that showed himself in the halls was surrounded by them, and page boys were rushing into the committee rooms every few minutes, where the chiefs of the lobby held forth, bearing notes from republican members who were lobbying on the floor for the bill.

REED AS A LOBBYIST.

Reee left the chair, and spent almost the entire day in attempting to force the doubtful members in line for the bill. He pleaded and begged and bulldozed, and was successful in many cases.

At 5 o'clock Mr. Fithian, of Illinois, who led the opposition, offered a free ship bill as a substitute. The republicans and a half dozen democrats opposed it, and it was defeated by a vote of 172 to 117.

Then the question recurred to the third reading of the original bill.

During the roll call the excitement was intense. The galleries were crowded with lobbyists, keeping tally, while dozens of members on the floor were doing likewise. At the end of the first roll call no one knew how the vote would result, but just before the second call was completed, Reed sent word to Dingley that the bill was knocked out.

THE BILL DEFEATED.

The vote stood 142 ayes to 148 noes.

Mr. Farquhar, of New York, the champion of the bill, tured deathly pale, and even Reed himself wore along face. The democrats arose, and applauded enthusiastically. But three democrats had deserted their party and voted for the bill, while fifteen republicans voted against it. The democrats for it were: Cummings and Spinola, of New York, and Biggs, of California. Old man Vaux, Mr. Randall's successor, who was aided in his race by the ship builders of Philadelphia, shirked. He left the house unpaired. The republicans voting against the bill were: Butterworth, Candler of Massachusetts, Connell, Gest, Hopkins, Kelly, Lacy, Lafollette, Laws, Lehlback, McComas, McCord, Peters, Pickler and Post.

Joe Cannon, who announced during the debate that he was against the bill, was forced into line and voted for it.

When Reed announced the vote he nodded to Dingley to move a reconsideration. Dingley did it and McMillen, of Tennessee, immediately moved to table it, and on this a roll call was ordered, and mounted couriers were quickly sent out to hunt up republican absentees, and Reed again left the chair and commenced lobbying with his republican opponents, begging them to leave the hall and not vote. In a few instances the big bulldozer was successful. Pickler, the allianceman from South Dakota, who had voted with the democrats on the first vote, shirked on the second, as did others, and as a consequence the motion to table was lost by 146 to 149.

THE SECOND TRIAL.

Then the advocates of the steal became more hopeful, and the lobbyists that had retired disheartened to the committee rooms, returned to the galleries. The motion to reconsider was put and carried by 148 to 143.

This brought the question again back to the third reading of the bill. Hope rose in the breasts of Reed and his pirate gang. When the second vote on the third reading was concluded, and carried by 169 to 146, the pirates believed they were safe, and would get the booty they had worked so hard and so corruptly for.

But they were doomed to disappointment. Joe Cannon, he of the dirty mouth, who had been voting with them, became frightened at his own vote in view of his many public utterances against subsidies, and moved to recommit the bill to the committee on merchant marine, with instructions to report back immediately the postal subsidy amendment which had already passed the senate. This was a bombshell in the subsidy hunters' camp. They polled every vote it was possible to beg or buy, but missed it by one, the vote when announced being 143 to 142. Again the democrats cheered.

THE SUBSTITUTE OFFERED.

But as soon as it was over, Mr. Farquhar walked to the front, and as chairman of the committee, reported the mail subsidy bill.

Judge Crisp quickly raised the point of order that Mr. Farquhar had no right to report for the committee on merchant marine, when that committee had not met or authorized it. Reed ruled against him, however, stating that while he was correct technically, the house had ordered the bill reported back immediately, and Farquhar, as the mouthpiece of the committee, was compelled to do as the house had ordered. Then followed many and varied points of order from the democrats, but Reed lost no time in ruling them out. There was a long wrangle and scramble over it, and Reed would have his way, as he always does, and after a couple of preliminary votes put the question on the passage of the mail subsidy bill. There was no genuine opposition to this. The democrats contented themselves by simply casting their votes against it, and the bill passed by 140 to 126.

The bill provides for contracts with American-owned steamships, manned by officers who are citizens of the United States, for carrying foreign mails. Vessels that can sail 25 knots or more per hour to receive $4 per mile for each mile sailed on the outward voyage. Vessels sailing 16 knots, $2 per mile; vessels sailing 14 knots, $1 per mile, and those sailing 12 knots, 66⅔ cents per mile.

The bill now goes to conference. If the republicans see an opportunity of putting through the original subsidy steal, they will adopt it in conference and send it back to the house, but the chances are they will decide to content themselves with this bill as the best they can do.

Mr. Moses, of Georgia.

Congressman-elect Moses, of the fifth Georgia, reached here today in time to see the fight over the shipping subsidy bill. He will remain over tomorrow and will then go to Baltimore. Mr. Moses says he expected to find the house an orderly, dignified body, but instead it reminded him of the floor of the New York stock exchange.

Alexander St. Quarles, of Georgia, was today appointed to a clerkship in the geological survey at $75 a month.

The $100,000 appropriation for the Columbus public building, and $50,000 for the Rome building have passed the senate in the sundry civil bill.

E. W. B.

VOORHEES WANTS GRAY.

He Says that It Would Be Impossible to Elect Cleveland.

CINCINNATI, O., February 27.—[Special.]—Senator Voorhees, of Indiana, passed through this city today, on his way to Hot Springs. When asked what he thought about the silver question in his state, he said:

"I think that it would be as difficult a matter to carry Indiana on a platform opposed to the free coinage of silver as it would to carry Ohio on the nullification doctrines of John C. Calhoun."

Mr. Voorhees stated that Mr. Cleveland could not hope to get the nomination with his silver views, and said that his first choice for president is ex-Governor Gray, of Indiana.

Blair Is Minister to China.

WASHINGTON, February 27.—The president today nominated Senator Henry W. Blair, of New Hampshire, to be minister to China.

The senate today confirmed the nominations of Henry W. Blair, of New Hampshire, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to China; Truxton Beale, of Alabama, minister to Persia; Martin A. Knapp, of New York, interstate commerce commissioner.

The Illinois Deadlock.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., February 27.—In the joint assembly today the 131st ballot was taken. Neither the republicans nor democrats voted, and an adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

Nothing definite can be done until Tuesday, as the republicans and Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association men have agreed to refrain from voting till that day.

THE TRADE REPORT.

Business of the Week Reviewed by Dun & Co.

NEW YORK, February 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: There is not much change in the condition of trade, but there is a little more dullness at the south and in the northwest, with a little more stringency in the money markets and complaint about the slowness of collections.

In general, business is still hesitating. Though there is no chance of monetary speculation at this session, the chances of an extra session of congress seem to be rather great, and before and pending legislation in several western legislatures regarding loans, mortgages, land titles and railroads causes much timidity and shifting of capitol. But a large cause is undoubtedly a partial loss of crops, which has left a great many farmers without means for the usual purchases. At the same time the collapse of the real estate "boom," which for a while inflated prices throughout the west and south has affected business more than has yet been realized.

To this influence is added at the south the extremely low price of cotton, which affects the farmers more, because so many of them tried, by holding back their crop, to force a higher level of prices.

REPORTS FROM THE CITIES.

Thus tardiness of collections begins to appear, because local debtors do not realize on their goods as promptly as they expected.

At Philadelphia there are tolerably good collections in clothing and dry goods, but poor in jewelry, and extremely poor in paints. The money market, although still generally called easy, gives signs of the steady approach to stringency.

Southern reports generally note a fair demand, but no improvement in trade, while northwestern reports are, on the whole, less favorable than before.

Business at the eastern cities has been irregular. The wool trade is strengthened by comparative scarcity, and the prices of some grades are higher. The knit goods manufacture has apparently gained most, and next the manufactures of dress goods. A continuance of purchases at more than the usual rate will be needed to make the season a satisfactory one in men's wear goods. The trade in cottons is dull because the southern demand has dropped remarkably. In rubber goods, trade is unsettled, some makers having advanced prices with those of the crude rubber, while others have not. The glass trade is fair at Pittsburg and light at Philadelphia.

Steel rails do not move, because buyers doubt the permanence of the combination. Coal is dull, in fair demand. Cigar makers are busy. The advance in Sumatra leaf retards sales.

AN ADVANCE IN PRICES.

There has been an advance in the average prices of all commodities, amounting to half of 1 per cent for the week, but it has been almost exclusively in products, of which the crops were short. The price of wheat has not advanced, western receipts continuing heavy, while exports are light.

But corn has risen 2⅛ cents, and oats 1¾ cents. A speculative advance of over ½ cent is also seen in coffee. Exports of merchandise from New York for the past four weeks have been 14 per cent less than for the same weeks last year, and imports also decrease about 10 per cent. A little disturbance is caused by further shipments of $600,000 of gold to Europe, and as the treasury disbursements for pensions are just now enormous, the money markets are likely to be strengthened for a time.

Business failures for the week number 256; for the corresponding week of last year the figure was 257.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, February 27.—Futures opened at three points' decline, further declined and afterward improved, closing at from two to three points' decline on this crop and unchanged on the next crop months from yesterday's closing prices. The bulls found themselves overloaded this morning. Options at Liverpool continued to give way, and the large demand for spot cotton there was not maintained. Indications regarding the crop movement pointed to large figures for the day and week. The bears, however, pursued their advantage very cautiously. At current prices it is regarded as safe to be short over night. The bulls show resources as well as pluck. Soon after the second call, orders came in for buying the next crop. A few hundred bales were taken for November. The whole tone of the market quickly changed. The early decline was partially recovered, and a very firm feeling was developed when it was seen that New Orleans had also turned better. Spot cotton was dull.

Perished in the Flames.

FLORENCE, S. C., February 27.—[Special.]—Belton O'Neill Townsend, a young lawyer of this city, is believed to have been burned up in his house tonight. The fire originated in his house and had advanced considerably when discovered. Neighbors had seen him on the piazza late in the afternoon in an intoxicated state. His wife and children had left him several days ago, and he was alone. Nothing has been seen of him since, and a thorough search has been made in his usual haunts. He was thirty years old and considered very bright.

A New Rail Line Out.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., February 27.—[Special.]—The last spike on the Brierfield, Blocton and Birmingham railroad was driven today at Gentry's Gap, twenty miles from Birmingham. The new road is fifty miles long, and is the East Tenuessee, Virginia and Georgia's new run line into Birmingham, extending from Brierfield, on the main line of that road, to Birmingham. It opens a new line from here to Mobile, and reaches many new coal mines. Trains will begin running early in March.

Spartanburg Is Booming.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., February 27.—[Special.]—New enterprises are springing up here daily. Today a canning factory took shape, with scores of demands of stock, which was already taken. It is likely the original plan will be enlarged, so as to manufacture brooms, buckets and one or two other things.

The treasurer's report to the city council tonight shows nearly $3,000,000 of property on the tax-books, an increase of several hundred thousand dollars since last year.

Crushed to Death.

CHARLESTON, S. C., February 27.—[Special.]—Joseph Addison, a white yard hand of the South Carolina railway, was crushed to death this afternoon in the railway yard, near Wolf street. He was attending the switch when the engine backed out of the round house. The lower portion of his body was crushed and mangled terribly. He lived long enough to be taken to his home, and died in the presence of his wife and children.

Captain Seigle's Death.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 27.—[Special.]—Captain T. L. Seigle, one of Charlotte's most progressive citizens, died this morning at 8 o'clock, of internal hemorrhages. Captain Seigle has been in the mercantile business for the past thirty years, and his upright Christian life will be pointed to as a model for the future generations of this city and community.

AND THE FLOODS CAME

AND SWEPT EVERYTHING BEFORE THEM.

CALIFORNIA TOWNS WASHED AWAY.

Three-Fourths of the Houses in Yuma Gone Down with the Torrent—High Water in Other Parts of the Country.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb 27.—There is no change in the general situation in this vicinity, except that every minute has been utilized by the railroad people in getting the tracks in shape. The situation south is much worse, and it will probably be Saturday or Sunday before the line to Yuma is opened. The Santa Fe road is still badly blocked. The track in the canyon is covered with dirt, and it will be some days before it can be cleared, but little is known of affairs east of San Bernardino. One or two trains are somewhere between that place and Barstow, but at what point is not known.

Some days must yet elapse before the coast line to San Diego will be in a passable condition. Local trains are now running. No further reports of the loss of life have been received, and it is now believed that no more have occurred, besides the four heretofore reported. The loss to property is not so heavy as at first supposed, but is nevertheless considerable. Reports from Yuma are very discouraging. Committees of the board of trade are now getting up subscriptions for that place. There is no suffering in this section so far as reported as a result of the floods.

Railroads Badly Damaged.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., February 27.—Additional particulars regarding the damages by the storm continue to be received. Canyon pass was badly damaged, and it will be sometime before trains can get through. The railroad company is trying to release south-bound passengers from the trains caught between the pass and Bartow. The railroad bridge was washed away, but the bridge over the Mojave near the pass is still safe. Wagon bridges at Rincon, Auburndale, and Riverside across the Santa Ana river have all been swept away by the floods. The pipe line in Santa Ana canyon is furnishing water to Redland.

The Destruction at Tia Juana,

SAN DIEGO, Cal., February 27.—Several deaths have resulted from the flood at Tia Juana. A Mexican was drowned while attempting to assist others. William E. Scribner, druggist, was swept away in his store by the flood. In Tia Juana there is not a building left standing on its foundation. The Russ house is the only building not completely wrecked, and that is badly damaged. The main current of the Tia Juana river now runs through the town.

Yuma Washed Away.'

Superintendent Filmore, of the Southern Pacific, received a dispatch from Yuma yesterday, stating that the place is doomed to destruction, that three-quarters of the city are flooded and that water was also threating the last quarter.

In the Mohawk Valley.

ALBANY, N. Y., February 27.—The condition of the Central railway, owing to the flood north and south of this place, has not imploved. Several trains in each direction have been abandoned. All trains to and from New York have to go over the Harlem road which makes the running time three to five hours longer. Western trains go via the West Shore through the Mohawk valley and are hours behind. West Shore trains are running without much trouble. Both tracks of the Central road are obstructed by ice and water above Poughkeepsie.

The River at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., February 27.—The river at this point is stationary at the danger line—thirty-three feet. Considerable bottom country on the Arkansas side is having its annual overflow, but no damage has yet been reported. It will take a considerable rise to do any damage to the adjacent country, and the rivermen think the highest point has been reached.

Cold Weather in Iowa.

CLINTON, Ia., February 27.—At 6 o'clock this morning the thermometer stood at 36 degrees Ice formed and the ground was frozen. Many of the fruit trees were in bloom and will doubtless be badly damaged. It is clear and cold tonight with prospects of another freeze.

KEYSVILLE IS IN ARMS

Over the Election of Two Negroes to the Town Council.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—The whites and blacks of Keysville are greatly stirred up, and serious trouble is apprehended. All the trouble is caused from political effects. Keysville is in the northwest corner of Burke county, twenty-six miles from Augusta, on the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville railroad. Some of the residents of the village thinking the prospects for developing the town good, commenced preparing for a boom in this way. Last summer while in Waynesboro Mr. E. J. Goodman and several other gentlemen, of Keysville, called on Representative Davis, from Burke county, and requested him to make application to the legislature for a charter to incorporate Keysville. In accordance with the request Mr. Davis secured a charter for Keysville, but lost the letter that mapped out that part of town that the whites wanted incorporated, which excluded the negro settlements, as drawn by Mr. Goodman. So he unknowingly had Keysville incorporated in the charter for half a mile in each direction from the academy, which included the negro settlement. The first Tuesday in January, an election for the first mayor and five members of the council was ordered. The general understanding was that Mr. Goodman, who had taken such an active part in having the town incorporated, should be elected mayor. The night before the election the friends of Mr. Tom B. Daniel held a caucus, and decided to run Mr. Daniel on the quiet. The result of the election was that Daniel was elected mayor, with E. J. Goodman, R. C. Clark, R. J. Cook, Dr. W. R. Jones, councilmen. Messrs. Goodman and Woodward, being disappointed at the way things have turned out, declined to serve in council. Consequently an election was ordered, to fill both vacancies, on January 20th. The negroes nominated Elbert Walker and Joe Young, both colored, for council. A majority of the whites refused to vote at the second election, so both negroes were elected. This was done to mortify the incumbents. Ever since the negroes were elected the greatest disatisfaction has prevailed, and trouble in the municipality has been brewing. Both negro councilmen several days ago received a letter from "red shirts," advising them to send in their resignations at once, and if they refused to do so, they would not be responsible for the terrible retribution that they would bring upon themselves.

Upon receipt of the letter from "red shirts," Walker and Young, the negro councilmen, addressed a letter to Mayor Daniel, and Dr. Jones and T. J. Cook, the two white councilmen, telling them that their election had been by questionable methods, and as members of the same honorable body they had been advised by "red shirts," also by the best citizens of Keysville, to resign, which they were willing to do, provided they would do the same thing. The white citizens also petitioned Mayor Daniel and his council to resign, so the negroes could be gotten rid of, to remove a blemish upon the town by the negro councilmen vacating.

Mayor Daniel says he nor his council will not resign unless the citizens withdraw the charge that the election was by questionable methods. The citizens say they will not withdraw the charge, as it is true. Mr. Goodwin says that the inside party took advantage of the situation, and by unprincipled ways elected themselves by mustering the negroes early in the morning and voting them for Daniel, when they were under the impression that they were voting for Goodwin for mayor; also that Mr. Gus Freeman asked one of the managers to write Goodwin's name on his ticket for mayor and the manager wrote Daniel, and refused to give back the ticket after it had been deposited in the box.

Mayor Daniel denies all the charges made and will not resign. Consequently the negroes will not vacate office, and they expect a visit from the red shirts. They are prepared for them, and fears of serious trouble is entertained. An outbreak may occur at any time.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

The Desperate Deed of a Jealous Husband in North Carolina.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 27.—[Special.]—An awful tragedy occurred at Statesville yesterday. For some time Frank Sherrill has suspected that the intimacy which existed between his wife and William King was not as it should be, and being of a very jealous nature, he could see mountains of insincerity looming up before his imaginary vision, but after all it proves to be not wholly an imagination.

This bad blood that had been stirred up between husband and wife has, as in almost every case, terminated fatally. Yesterday afternoon Sherrill returned from his day's work and found King at his house. Sherrill did not go into the house, but to the stables, and after waiting some time for King to leave he returned to his house and found that he was still there. Sherrill called his wife and soon afterwards King came out, and said that Sherrill and his wife were passing very hot words. Soon afterwards the wife started toward the house. Sherrill caught her by the collar and dragged her to the ground, and seating himself across her prostrate form went to work on her with his razor, hacking her throat and slashing the hand with which she tried to protect it. He drew the razor across her face, and head, making wound after wound, until his mother-in-law, seeing her child butchered alive, ran up and beat him off with a hoe handle. Thinking that he had murdered his wife, Sherrill left, and the people of the neighborhood, attracted by the tumult, began gathering. John Martin, one of the neighbors, came up and made inquiry as to what man that was lying on the side of the road a short distance from the house, and nobody knew. Investigation was instituted and it proved to be the body of the angered husband, who, after leaving his wife for dead, had gone a short distance, and with the same razor he had almost severed his head from his body.

FORTY INDICTMENTS FOUND

Against as Many Participants in the Cathrine Riot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., 27.—[Special.]—Last December W. L. Bruce, republican, formerly of Ohio, a nephew of Judge Bruce, of the United States court, was run out of Cathrine, Wilcox county, on account of political trouble. At the same time Bruce's store was burned, and he was assaulted. A negro postmaster was also intimidated, and made to leave. Governor Jones offered large rewards for the arrest of the guilty parties, and several who were arrested were released on preliminary hearings. The governor then had a special grand jury empanneled, to investigate the case, and today they reported forty indictments, many of which were against prominent citizens. The state will ask for a change of venue, so it is said. The Cathrine affair has been universally condemned.

Arrest of a Postoffice Employe.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., February 27.—[Special.]—James J. Pickard, for the past year in charge of the registry and money order department of the postoffice here, was arrested at the instance of an inspector from Washington, and taken before United States Commissioner Bone, who set next Monday for the hearing, requiring a $1,000 bond to be given. Pickard, it is thought, is behind several hundred dollars. His books are undergoing investigation by an expert.

Al Bauer in Trouble.

COLUMBUS, O., February 27.—Al Bauer, a former baseball player and umpire, was arrested this evening, charged with aiding and abetting in Monday's tragedy. The gun which W. J. Elliott shot Hughes and Osborn has been missing, and it was developed today that Elliott quietly passed it to Bauer on the way to prison while under arrest. Bauer has remained silent in regard to his possession, but a boy who saw the transaction informed the police, and the gun was recovered.

Work Convicted.

PHILADELPHIA, February 27.—The case of George F. Work and James S. Dugan, Bank of America wreckers, who have been on trial here for the past three days, was concluded this afternoon, and after a short deliberation the jury returned a verdict finding the defendants guilty of the charge of re-hyphothecating securities of the bank.

The Clark Bribery Case.

OLYMPIA, February 27.—The house has decided in the Metcalf-Clark bribery case that it has no jurisdiction over Clark's alleged offence. The grand jury was requested by the committee to investigate the case, but probably the matter will be dropped.

Not the Body of His Son.

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—Jeweler Flint does not believe that the body of the suicide found in New York city, after it had been half eaten by dogs, is that of his son, despite its identification as such by a former Savannahian. Mr. Flint says he received a letter from his son dated Syracuse on Wednesday.

Died From His Injuries.

CHARLESTON, S.C., February 27.—[Special.]—Paul McNeil, a colored fireman, shot by R. C. Hardwick, town marshal of Grahams, January 21st, died today from the effects of his wounds.

WHITEHEAD VS. THE CHRONICLE.

A Libel Case Thrown Out of the Augusta Court.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 27.—An interesting case was tried in the city court of Augusta today—that of Jesse J. Whitehead, of Oconee county, vs. The Augusta Chronicle, an action for libel. The Chronicle, last August, published an item which alleged that Whitehead had become involved in a row in which a man named Shipp was killed and another named Atkinson mortally wounded.

The Chronicle pleaded in defense that the article was copied into its columns from a reputable and reliable paper in Georgia; that no malice was intended; that it offered to print a correction, but that the only reparation asked by Whitehead was a moneyed consideration. Whitehead's counsel held that the article was entirely untrue and originated at the hands of some neighbors with whom Whitehead was at fued.

Judge Eve decided that the article did not charge any particular crime, and the case against The Chronicle was non-suited. The case attracted much attention by its novelty. This was the first libel case tried here in twenty-five years.

THE $25,000 ASSURED.

The Professor Stone Endowment Fund Is Raised by Action in Macon.

MACON, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—Some months ago efforts were commenced in Georgia by the friends of Emory college at Oxford, to aise $25,000 to endow the Professor George W. W. Stone chair of mathematics at Emory. Contributions have been received from all over Georgia and from other states. Up to yesterday the fund amounted to $19,400, but today the entire sum of $25,000 has been raised, and this is how it happened:

This morning, Captain R. E. Park, a true Methodist and warm friend of Emory, received a letter from President W. A. Candler, of Emory, saying that a certain gentleman was willing to subscribe $5,000 to the fund, provided the remaining $600 was subscribed by noon today. President Candler asked Captain Park to try and raise the amount in Macon.

The first gentleman approached by Captain Park on the subject was that public-spirited and liberal citizen, Major J. F. Hanson, who immediately subscribed $500. The next two gentlemen spoken to by Captain Park were Messrs. W. G. Solomon and L. E. Culver. They each subscrined $50. Thus the $600 were promptly subscribed, and Captain Park telegraphed the fact to President Candler in time for it to reach him before 12 o'clock today, which assured the donation of the $5,000 from the gentleman referred to by President Candler. So the necessary amount, $25,000, wanted for the Stone endowment has been raised. It may be stated in this connection that l st summer Captain Park subscribed $600 to the fund.

Athens Wants Another Road.

ATHENS, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—The Piedmont Construction Company will hold its meeting in Athens on March 11th. The building of a railroad from the Tennessee state line to Savannah, or to the sea, will be discussed and decided upon. Among the incorporators of this company are Congressman Candler, Colonel R. S. Mitchell, of Augusta, and Mr. T. L. Gantt.

A Tobacco Trust.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., February 27.—The National tobacco works here, belonging to Pfingst, Dierhelfer & Co., and incorporated at $400,000, has been sold to a cigarette syndicate in which Kinney Bros. and Allen & Ginter are leaders. It is believed to be the beginning of a great combination of the tobacco manufacturing interests.

Returned to Work.

PHILADELPHIA, February 27.—The strikers at the Dobson carpet mills returned to work this morning, the questions in dispute having been adjusted in a way said to be satisfactory alike to employers and employes.

Arkansas Election Bill.

LITTLE ROCK, February 27.—The election bill which passed the house Wednesday passed the senate today and has gone to the governor, who will approve it. It conforms with the Australian system.

THE EMPRESS DEPARTS

AND THERE IS AN EASIER FEELING IN FRANCE.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST AN UPRISING.

The German ex-Empress and Suite Protected by 500 Policemen—French Artists and the Berlin Exposition.

PARIS, February 27.—Empress Frederick, of Germany, left Paris this morning. No unpleasant incident has marked her departure. The gravity of the situation, however, can be fudged from the fact that, acting under advice from high quarters, the empress changed the line of her route, for fear of being insulted by that portion of the populace which had gradually worked itself into a fever heat of rage over the presence of the imperial visitor in Paris. It was publicly announced yesterday evening and this morning that the empress intended to leave this city for Calais, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., but upon the suggestion referred to, she left the German embassy two hours earlier and, entering a carriage, was driven rapidly to the Gare du Nord, where she entered a train which left that depot for Boulogne. The empress, however, will not embark for England at that port, but will proceed from there to Calais, where the royal yacht is awaiting her arrival.

CROWDS AT THE DEPOT.

In spite of the precautions taken to avoid unpleasant demonstrations by keeping the exact hour of the empress' departure secret, several hundred people gathered about the Gare du Nord and watched the movements of the empress with considerable interest. The crowd, contrary to general expectation, was civil and quiet, a majority of the men present taking off their hats as the empress passed. There were no insulting cries of any description. The empress was as calm and composed, to all outward appearances, as if she had been in Berlin and surrounded by a body guard of loyal Germans.

She quickly entered the railway car which had been secured for her special use, and cordially bade adieu to representatives of the German embassy, who had accompanied her to the station.

THE ARTISTS' EXPLANATION.

At the reception yesterday evening, at the residence of M. de Rothschild, M. Gerve, the painter, was presented to the empress. On behalf of the French artists he expressed the regret that they felt at not being able to send works of art to the Berlin exposition, claiming that the reason for their abstaining from so doing was that they could not place themselves at variance with their colleagues. The empress listened attentively to the explanation given, and in reply, said, in substance, that she appreciated the justice of the French artists' motives and accepted them in a friendly spirit of good will, though she regretted that the artists of France were not to be represented at Berlin.

In an interview with the president of the Society of Artists, published today, the latter declares that he will still advocate that French artists should send exhibits to Berlin, though he yields to the opinion expressed by his brother artists.

PROTECTED BY POLICEMEN.

Empress Frederick and her party arrived at the Gare du Nord in three landaus, the coachmen and footmen wearing cockades composed of the German colors in their hats. The police officials had taken every precaution to protect the empress, a body of 500 policemen being in waiting about the depot upon the approach of the imperial traveler. The police quickly formed into two lines, thus enabling the empress' carriage to drive up to the station without having any portion of the crowd near enough to the empress to do her injury, should such have been the intention of any of those present.

The empress was accompanied by the whole staff of the German embassy, headed by Count von Muenster, German ambassador. An attache of the British embassy was also in attendance in company with one of the equerries of Queen Victoria. The latter, together with Count von Muenster and a number of police, accompanied the empress to Boulogne, and from there to Calais.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

The general tone of the press of this city is mild. The newspapers repudiate the utterances of The Cologne Gazette. The charge is made by La Justice that The Gazette's statements were in reality only the outcome of a bourse manœuvre, and that in any case Germany well knows that France is firmly attached to peace, although she does not hesitate to make any sacrifice which may be deemed necessary when the preparation for defense is concerned.

La Paix, referring to the same subject, says that it is convinced that European opinion will be able to distinguish between the few harangues made by the operators of the League of Patriots and the true attitude of the people.

BERLIN, February 27.—Chancellor von Caprivi has notified Prince von Hohenlohe-Schillingfurst, governor of Alsace-Lorraine, to refrain from mitigating passport regulations, as proposed in Alsace-Lorraine, in order to enable Frenchmen to cross the frontier and attend fairs and markets in upper Alsace. The chancellor, it is added, desires the governor not to extend, in any way, additional facilities to the inhabitants of the French frontier.

ON BRITISH SOIL.

DOVER, February 27.—The royal yacht, having on board the Empress Frederick and her suite, arrived here at 5 o'clock. The empress was enthusiastically received. The arrival of the yacht was announced by salvos of artillery, and when the imperial visitor stepped ashore she was heartily cheered by the crowds present.

THE QUEEN WAS ANGRY

When She Learned That the Frenchmen Had Insulted Her Daughter.

LONDON, February 27.—A social sensation has been caused by the reports of a verbal fracas between the queen and prince of Wales, at Portsmouth yesterday. Before going to the launch the prince of Wales heard, through the foreign office alarming accounts of the position of ex-Empress Frederick in Paris. He decided to go and bring her away, believing his personal popularity would prevent the threatened demonstration, and he wired the queen his intention.

On arriving at the dockyard, and joining the queen's circle, grouped round the bows of the Royal Arthur, the queen was heard accosting him with:

"What do you say? Turn my daughter out of Paris? Nonsense; it is impossible."

The prince, in an undertone, replied that he was so impressed with the gravity of the situation reported by the minister that he had wired his sister to leave immediately if she could not await him. The queen, visibly enraged, repeated that it was impossible to believe that any insult could be offered to her daughter in Paris. She then sat down and excitedly played her fingers on an electric battery, to the alarm of Professor Edgar and the dockyard officials, who dreaded the premature launching of the ship.

In further conversation she blamed the prince for the injudicious course he had taken, and threatened to countermand his telegrams by herself wiring.

The prince, in moderate tones, protested that the countermand would be unwise, and urged his mother to send a telegram enforcing his advice. The controversy ended in harmony. The queen, appeased, talked over the matter with the prince, and the latter, before leaving Portsmouth, sent a cipher telegram to ex-Empress Frederick, backing his own wishes with the queen's.

THE IRISH CAMPAIGN.

McCarthyite Meetings Dispersed—Mr. Parnell in Wretched Health.

LONDON, February 27.—Several McCarthyites attempted to address meetings today in West Limerick and Clare, but everywhere they were obliged to retire. In the face of the leaguers' opposition they could not get a hearing. The feebleness of the McCarthyites is partly due to the want of organization. Whilst Mr. Parnell has called every possible man to work under control of the headquarters in Dublin, the McCarthyites take isolated action, chiefly on personal initiative. Despite the present fighting activity of the Parnellites, the McCarthyites are confident of success after the campaign has been fairly opened.

Mr. Cox, on starting for Australia today, stated that he was certain that he would return with £20,000 for the McCarthyites' fund. Forecasting the result of the party duel, the Parnellites maintain that if even they secure only thirty members of the house of commons, Mr. Gladstone will be compelled to buy their support before carrying home rule.

Intimate friends of Parnell say that the worry is killing him. His former ghastly aspect and ill-health has returned. He speaks hurriedly, sometimes being confused and at a loss for a word.

Dillon and O'Brien are still in the prison infirmary, but not confined to bed. They are supplied with writing materials and books. In an interview Colonel Nolan expressed himself as satisfied with the treatment of the prisoners. He said his personal friend, Dr. Rice, had seen the prisoners and found them in good condition.

AN INJUNCTION ASKED

Against an English Paper for Making Certain Charges.

LONDON, February 27.—Before Justice North, in chancery division of high court of justice today an injunction was ask for by Benard and Deakin, promoters of several enterprises, to prevent Perryman, editor of The Financial Observer, from selling copies of the paper which contained alleged imputations of fraudulent promotion of the city of Baltimore breweries, Fletcher Mills, of Providence, R. I., and Sykes' breweries. The Observer charged the plaintiffs with bribing The Financial News to support dishonest schemes, and with obtaining £58,000 as promotion plunder in connection with the companies mentioned. The defendant's counsel submitted that the allegations were true, and that the defendant, desiring to prove the truth of these allegations before a jury, it would not be right to grant the injunction asked for. Judgment upon the application was postponed.

LADY RUSSELL'S APPLICATION

For a Writ of Separation from Her Husband.

LONDON, February 27.—Lady Russell, wife of Earl Russell, has made an application for a writ of judicial separation from her husband. The case has been entered for a hearing.

The earl denies the allegations made by his wife in her application, and will stoutly contest the granting of the separation. The case excites much interest, not only because of the high social position occupied by the parties, but also because they have been wedded only since the 6th of February last. Lady Russell is a daughter of the late Lord Scott. Earl Russell succeeded to the earldom, on the death of his grandfather, in 1878.

The Baccarat Scandal.

LONDON, February 27.—On behalf of the defendants in the case generally known as the "baccarat scandal," lawyers for the defense have written Sir William Gordon Cummings's lawyers that with the view of avoiding delay they are prepared to refer the decision upon the merits of the charges and counter-charges to three gentlemen of well known position and honor, they to be invested, by mutual consent, with the usual powers of trial by law, the trial to take place in open court. Upon behalf of Mr. Cummings, his lawyers replied that they do not intend to submit their case to anybody but a jury, and that there would not be a moment's unnecessary delay in bringing the case to trial. But, the lawyers add, they do not intend to be hurried.

The Striking Dock Laborers.

LONDON, February 27.—Three hundred union dock laborers today applied for work at the Albert docks, upon the terms offered by the shipping federation. A number of these men were accepted and have been put to work. The names of forty of the leaders of the dock laborers have been placed upon the federation's black list. A fight today between the federation and union dock laborers at the Asterbury docks, opposite Gravesend, was quelled by the police, who had considerable difficulty in restoring order.

The Pope to Receive the Cardinals.

ROME, February 27.—The pope will receive the members of the sacred college of cardinals upon the occasion of the fetes of March 3d, which will celebrate the coronation of his holiness. The pope upon this occasion will not speak upon politics on account of the alteration in relations between quirinal and the vatican. His holiness declares that he awaits the acts of the new Italian government, and in the meanwhile remains neutral.

The Canadian Elections.

TORONTO, February 27.—The eight elections for the Dominion parliament went by acclamation yesterday. Of eight The Empire, the government organ, claims six as ministeralists.

Provinces which elected members by acclamation, are Quebec, four: British Columbia, two; Ontario, one, and Manitoba, one. All members of the government are to have opposition.

THE SCHOOL TEACHERS OF GEORGIA

Have Perfected Arrangements for Their Annual Meeting Near Brunswick.

MACON, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—THE CONSTITUTION is recognized as the friend of education and of the school teachers of Georgia, and for that reason Professor D. Q. Abbot, the popular assistant superintendent of Bibb public schools, and treasurer of the Georgia Teachers' Association, has handed the following communication to the Macon correspondent for publication:

To the Teachers of Georgia: At the last regular meeting of the directors, it was determined to hold the next meeting of the association at Brunswick, Ga., provided satisfactory arrangements could be made. The matter of location was thus intrusted to the president, secretary and treasurer, with power to act. We visited Brunswick in October, and received assurance that all requirements would be fully and cheerfully met. The question of railroad rates had then to be arranged. We are now glad to announce that all railroads in Georgia belonging to the Southern Passenger Association have granted a rate of one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold April 26th, 29th, will be of iron-clad signature form, and limited to a continuous passage in each direction, with extreme limit May 5, 1891. The Central railroad of Georgia will sell tickets for this occasion from coupon stations only. An educational exhibit will again be held in connection with the meeting of the association. If you will contribute to the exhibit, notify the secretary at once. The Southern Express Company has granted a two-thirds rate each way, on all articles sent from points in Georgia. The opening exercises of the association will take place Tuesday evening, April 28th.

Will Locate in Raleigh.

RALEIGH, N. C., February 21.—General F. B. Chilton has tonight decided to accept the proposition made by the city of Raleigh, and will locate here the headquarters of the Southern Immigation Bureau and Interstate Exposition.

ASSAULT TO MURDER.

A Bloody Cutting Affray on Peters Street Last Night.

Blood flowed freely on Peters street last night, and the police are after Bud Shaver, a negro of more or less reputation. They want him for an assault with intent to murder.

Joe Caldwell and Mary Ann Shields were both considerably carved up by Shaver.

Jealousy was the cause of the trouble.

Caldwell and Mary Ann were standing talking on Peters street, opposite Moyer's store, when Shaver came up.

The sight of his rival was too much for him. He pulled out his knife and went to work.

Caldwell was cut five or six times, and the woman was also slightly cut several times.

Caldwell is quite seriously hurt, but not fatally.

His Jaw Bone Broken.

Mr. Frank Walker met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was kicked in the jaw by a mule while handling a droye at his stable on Hunter street. The blow broke Mr. Walker's jaw bone on both sides, crushing his face terribly.

Wanted In Alabama.

Officers Harris and Etheridge yesterday arrested Dunk Jonas, a negro, who is wanted in Gadsden, Ala. He is an escaped convict, and if he proves the right man the officers will receive a reward of $50.

Cars Off the Track.

The East Tennessee passenger train, southbound, due in Atlanta at 7 o'clock last night was delayed until sometime this morning, by three derailed freight cars at Nickajack, a small station between Atlanta and Austell.

GOLD PROPERTY.

THREE THOUSAND ACRES CHANGE HANDS.

One of the Finest Gold Properties in the Country to Be Developed—The Iron Possibilities of Cherokee.

CANTON, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—Arrangements were perfected yesterday by which a large scope of rich gold-bearing territory, in the northern part of this county and the western part of Dawson county, was consolidated for development.

The property consolidated consists of about 3,000 acres of land, or rather the mineral interest in it, lying on both sides of the Etowah river, including the bed of the river, from near the Franklin & McDonald gold mine, which is one of the oldest and best mines being worked today in the south, and extending to the Charles mine. This is considered by all gold experts who have examined the ore and seen the properties, to be the richest gold-bearing section in Georgia.

Besides the rich ore this region possesses other advantages that tend to make this a desirable section for the development of the gold and other minerals with which we are so abundantly blessed,

But this particular property which was yesterday consolidated, is especially rich and valuable. The Franklin and Pasco veins, with three other minor veins, run through the property, and have been clearly defined and tested in dozens of places. The Etowah river in its meanderings cuts these veins in several places, and the various feeders for the river have in the ages past, deposited large amounts of free gold in the river's bed. One of the objects of this consolidation, your correspondent is told, is to clean out the bed of the river and wash its sands by dredging or otherwise, with a view of picking up and saving the vast amount of gold that must be there.

Just at this time much attention is drawn to the extensive iron beds of Cherokee, but along with this excitement it should not be forgotten that Cherokee now ranks third among the gold-bearing counties of the state. When the rich and exhaustless deposits and mines are properly brought to the attention of those interested in gold mining, and developments are made anything like commensurate with the advantages we offer, Cherokee will easily lead all the other gold-producing counties. With one or two exceptions the mines of Cherokee are not now, nor never have been, worked in a proper manner to test their value. Much mining has been and is being done, but it is mainly in a loose and unsystematic manner, but upon a paying basis.

Whatever else may be said of Cherokee she can certainly boast of the best and largest iron deposits in the south, and its quality cannot be surpassed. One company alone has already developed a vein eight miles long, and of very high grade magnetic iron. Another company is opening up and developing another extensive vein of magnetic and gray specular ore, which bids fair to be the best find in the south. Recent assays show it to be very low in phosphorus, in fact considerably under the Bessemer limit, and this fact alone makes it doubly valuable.

But the existence of all this is not just now being made known to our people, for many have known of the vast mineral, timber and agricultural riches of this section for years, but the reason it is attracting so much attention abroad is that capital and men of experience are coming in and developing the property and making honest mention of what this section really possesses. But few, if any, counties in Georgia have a greater variety of rich and valuable minerals than Cherokee, although some may have made more rapid advancement in developing the property and attracting the attention of the outside world. As a rule, our peeple are poor and unable to develop the property themselves, and so must wait the coming of outside capital to do for us what we have long wished to do for ourselves. But the tide is now turning this way, and no part of Georgia will, we believe, make more rapid or substantial advancement than old Cherokee.

Not only are men with money and practical knowledge to develop our hidden resources coming here and making investments, but railroads are looking this way and preparing to lay their rails through this section, so as to reap the rich harvest that also awaits them.

This week Colonels Jones and Stegalls, of Bartow county, and Civil Engineer Black, of Atlanta, were here locating a line from Emerson, or some other point on the Western and Atlantic railroad to Gainesville, on the Richmond and Danville railroad, via Canton and Dawsonville. Up to this point from Emerson they said no difficulty was found in locating the line, but from here they are undecided as to whether the route should go directly eastward, along what is known as the ridge route, or cross the Etowah river here and cut through the iron and marble fields of this and Pickens county, and on by Long swamp and Potts mountain to Dawsonville. Should the latter route be adopted, the road would pass directly through the gold lands spoken of in the first part of this article. In either event the road would pass through or very near this property. Colonel Jones and party say the road will surely be built, and that surveyors will be put in the field to locate a permanent route on or before the 15th of next month. His company asks nothing, he says, but the right-of-way, which can, of course, be readily obtained.

With this and other proposed roads built through this section, and the Marietta and North Georgia already a first-class standard gauge road, our county would have all the railroad facilities necessary, for awhile, at least. In view of the bright prospects just now before us, Cherokee is taking on new life and renewed hope and energy, and our town is receiving considerable outside attention, and almost all the "doubting Thomases" have come to the conclusion that we will have in the near future a city of no mean proportions.

Cherokee superior court has been in session here this week. On account of sickness of Captain H. W. Newman, a great many of the cases were continued, and the jurors dismissed Wednesday evening. The grand jury, however, is still in session, but will probably finish their labors tomorrow. There were no important cases for trial on the docket, and hence but few cases of much interest have been tried this week.

THE SLAUGHTER OF PERRY BRINSON.

The Case Under Investigation in Meriwether Court.

GREENVILLE, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—The case of J. T. Williams, charged with the killing of Perry Brinson, colored, at Woodberry last Christmast night, was taken up today. E. J. Hinton testified that about 8 o'clock Christmas night he heard loud talking, and stepping to the street saw Judge F. J. Williams, father of the defendant, urging Perry Brinson, the deceased, to go home, and telling him not to advance with that knife, and asking if any one had a pistol. Tom Williams ran up and struck Brinson in the breast, and said: "Here is his knife; he can't hurt you." Brinson said: "Boss, I aint got a knife, and am going to die right here," and falling forward on his right knee, sank down, and upon examination was found to be dead. He saw no knife in Tom Williams's hand, but saw him strike the deceased. He saw deceased turned over after a light was brought, and opening his vest, saw blood on his shirt and a wound in his breast. Witness did not tell at the coroner's inquest of seeing Tom Williams strike deceased, because the colored people were greatly excited and threatened to kill the man whom the coroner's jury should indicate as the guilty party, and that the county should be saved the expense of carrying him to Greenville.

Dr. J. M. Hooten said he was called to see the deceased about the time he expired, and found a dirk wound five or six inches deep, which severed the aorta and produced almost instant death.

The defense set up by the defense was that Perry Brinson was fatally stabbed by some one before he came up where he fell and died, and that Tom Williams was not present till the negro's death.

A. J. Wells swore that he was in the store of the defendant from dark to the time of the killing, and that it was an utter impossibility for the defendant to have done the killing without his knowledge.

Judge F. J. and W. F. Williams both testified that the defendant did not come up till after the negro's death, and that he could not have done the killing.

A great number of witnesses have been examined. The above covers the most important evidence. The case will probably go to the jury tomorrow.

Alliance Resolutions About the Caucus.

ALPHARETTA, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—The following resolutions have been unanimously passed by the Milton County Alliance:

Whereas, It is very evident that great good to the agricultural masses has been accomplished since the organization of the Farmers' Alliance; and, whereas, our success was indisputably attributed to the pre-requisites, peace, harmony and unity of action; and, whereas, a few disgruntled and jealous men in our own ranks have seen fit to hold a caucus at our governor's mansion for the purpose of attacking our state alliance president, L. F. Livingston, H. C. Brown, and our state organ, The Southern Alliance Farmer, the ultimate object of which is to overthrow the present incumbents, and to "bring in new horses;" therefore be it

Resolved, 1. That the Milton County Alliance realizing the necessity of maintaining peace, harmony and unity in our ranks, and being unwilling to gratify the selfish ambitions of the disgruntled few, set our seal of condemnation on the caucus at the governor's mansion, and we earnestly request all true alliancemen to do likewise.

Resolved, 2. That we endorse Colonel L. F. Livingston, Captain H. C. Brown, and The Southern Alliance Farmer, and extol them for their untiring efforts and unswerving energy, in building up the alliance, not only in Georgia, but all over the country.

Resolved, 3. That we ask that these resolutions be published in The Milton Democrat, The Southern Alliance Farmer, THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, and all papers friendly to our order.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE.

The Sheriff of Newton Loses a Couple of Hard Cases.

COVINGTON, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—Two of the prisoners confined in jail at this place, made their escape this morning under the following circumstances, to-wit: Sheriff H. B. Anderson went to the jail for the purpose of giving the prisoners their breakfast, and when he opened the door of one of the cells, in which six negroes were confined, several of them rushed upon him and began a desperate struggle to get out. One of the prisoners, Phil Murphy, rushed to the assistance of the sheriff, and did all he could to prevent the escape of the other prisoners. But for the assistance thus rendered the sheriff would have been overpowered and all five of his assailants would have escaped. As it was, only two of them, Joe Smith and Sam Durden, managed to escape, and they were recaptured about an hour afterwards. In the struggle the sheriff was somewhat bruised and his clothes was badly torn.

ANOTHER YOUNG SOLDIER

Who Went to the War While He Was Quite a Lad.

LAGRANGE, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—We often read in the newspapers about the very young men who went to the war in the dark days of '61. Troup county can boast a man in the person of Mr. E. T. Winn, clerk of the superior court, who was probably one of the youngest "rebs" that ever shouldered a musket. Mr. Winn was enlisted in October '61 and was at that time thirteen years five months and two days old. He entered at the beginning, and when Lee surrendered at Appomattox courthouse he was still there. It is said that a braver boy never followed a flag than this little thirteen-year-old soldier. Only a few men can boast a war record so splendid as E. T. Winn.

A Million Bales of Cotton.

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 27.—[Special.]—Savannah has received as much cotton up to date as came here last season. The total receipts up to today amounted to 960,000 bales. There are six months of the present season left. Plenty cotton still remains in the country, and it is coming in at the rate of 2,000 to 3,000 bales a day. Before the end of March Savannah is pretty sure to pass the million mark.

A Schooner Ashore.

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 27.—An unknown small, two-masted schooner went ashore on Tybee Thursday evening in a northwest gale and sunk. The crew is supposed to be lost. The vessel is believed to be the Robert McCarroll, of Charleston, S. C., and was on a voyage to this port from Coosa, S. C., with phosphate rock, and carried a crew of five men, all negroes.

The object of their organization, for which this charter is asked is to promote the cause of temperance by religious influences, by moral suasion, by educational methods, by legal prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating beverages, and by all such collateral means and agencies as will tend to the same purpose.

Said corporation is not formed for the purpose of gain or financial profit and has no capital stock.

Petitioners pray that they may be incorporated under said corporate name for the term of twenty years and that they be invested with all the powers mentioned in section 1679 of the code of Georgia.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

THE LADIES' AUXILIARY GIVES ITS FIRST TEA.

The Concert to Be Given by the Y. M. C. A. The Mallon Society Entertainment. Notes and News.

The first tea of the season was given by the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

There has never been an entertainment given that was more enjoyable.

Everything had been most appropriately arranged beforehand by the committees.

The room committee consisting of Mrs. McCabe chairman; Miss Dedie Foreacre, Miss Annie Mitchell, Miss Carrie Matthews, Mrs. J. K. Ottley and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, looked after the decorations and they were superb.

The parlors and reception rooms were adorned with rare flowers from the leading florists, and a number of beautiful pictures were hung on the walls.

Of these, one, a large engraving of the "Return of the Prodigal," was permanently loaned by Mrs. J. B. Hawthorne, and three beautiful pictures were loaned by Mrs. McCabe, to remain permanently.

The reception committee, Mrs. Hugh T. Inman, chairman; Mrs. Governor Northen, Mrs. L. B. Nelson, Mrs. H. C. Leonard, Mrs. R. H. Johnson, Mrs. McCabe, Mrs. W. W. Boyd, Mrs. J. Frank Beck, Mrs. J. B. Hawthorne, Mrs. Albert Howell, Mrs. Ed White, Jr., Mrs. W. S. Bell, Mrs. J. H. Morgan, Mrs. W. F. Trenary and Mrs. I. S. Mitchell, assisted by Mrs. George S. May; Mrs. Menzo White, Miss Dedie Foreacre, Miss Carrie Mathews, Miss Annie Mitchell, Miss Emma Tuller, Miss Alice Robinson, Miss Glenn, Miss Carrie Glenn, Miss Cass Heidt and Miss Annie Hetzel, did all that a party of energetic and appreciative ladies could do to make it a success.

There were about 200 ladies present, and never did a party spend a more delightful evening.

The entertainment committee, Mrs. E. P. Chamberlin, chairman; Mrs. John H. James, Mrs. J. R. Wylie, Mrs. Dr. Bellamy, Mrs. John M. Green, Mrs. Charles D. Tuller, Mrs. D. E. Luther, Mrs. R. J. Daniel, Mrs. T. J. Stilson, Miss Ellen O'Conner and Mrs. Willie Spencer, had changed the large reading room into a most elegant festal chamber, and eighteen small tables were laid, each in the most dainty manner, around which the ladies gathered during the course of the entertainment to discuss questions looking to the well-being of the associotion, and the auxiliary, which has done so much for it.

Mrs. E. P. Chamberlin was most active in securing a perfect success for the entertainment, and her labor of love was eminently successful.

The flower committee, Mrs. Ackerman, chairman; Miss Emma Fuller, Mrs. Dr. Kling, Miss Annie Purtell and Miss Edish Nelson, deserve the largest possible measure of congratulation for their success in the charming decorations which added so much to the pleasure of the entertainment.

⁂

Miss Golden, who will give the concert next Tuesday evening at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, is the daughter of Mr. Frank Golden, for so many years freight agent of the Western and Atlantic railroad. Miss Golden is a pupil of the noted teacher and musician, Mrs. Mary Madden.

She is a pianist, possessed of great talent and really most remarkable technique, both of which will be required to perform the choice programme furnished in Tuesday evening's concert. Mrs. M M. O'Brien, who will be the songstress of the concert, possesses a superb contralto voice. She is by special engagement remaining in Atlanta to sing in this concert. Immediately after, she will leave for New York and later for Europe, where she will complete her studies for grand opera.

She possesses a dramatic contralto voice of great power and immense feeling. Mrs. O'Brien has been quietly studying for the last few years, and her appearance next Tuesday evening may be regarded as her debut as a concert singer, but she has been delighting for some months past her many friends in private circles, and Atlanta in losing her, is suffering an irreparable loss. Mr. DeGive, who is certainly a judge, speaks of her voice as a noble, grand contralto, which he would go miles to hear. The concert is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Madden.

A State of Siege

How many people there are who regard the coming of winter as a constant state of siege. It seems as if the elements sat down outside the walls of health and now and again, led by the north wind and his attendant blasts, broke over the ramparts, spreading colds, pneumonia and death. Who knows when the next storm may come and what its effects upon your constitution may be? The fortifications of health must be made strong. SCOTT'S EMULSION of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda will aid you to hold out against Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, and all Anæmic and Wasting Diseases, until the siege is raised. It prevents wasting in children. Palatable as Milk.

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 28, 1891.

Prince Fortunatus.

The country has been waiting for some one to come forward and cap the climax on the Ingalls myth, and the "some one" has appeared in the shape of Blakely Hall, the celebrated moon-eyed correspondent who ripped up the south a few years ago with his gifted pen.

Blakely Hall makes his reappearance in the columns of Howard Carroll's newspaper, The Record, and he seizes on Ingalls as the most picturesque branch of the Spoopendyke species. Ingalls, it appears, is the most fortunate statesman that was ever kicked out of office by his disgusted constituents. According to Blakely, every corporation of any importance in the country has opened its safe-doors and invited Ingalls to walk in and take out a year's salary, ranging from $20,000 to $22,000 a year.

Such a remarkably unanimous and simultaneous movement is not without its interesting aspects. A country paper in Denver offered the deposed senator $20,000 a year to edit its bristling columns. A paper that is to be started in Chicago this month offered him $22,000 a year to edit its valuable pages. A well-known illustrated weekly in New York offered him $15,000 a year to preside over its destinies. In addition to this, according to Blakely Hall, numerous banks and insurance companies have offered him "similar figures" to take charge of their affairs.

Taking the most natural view of this remarkable effort of newspapers and financial institutions to place themselves in charge of Mr. Ingalls, it seems that all that is necessary to make one truly great and sought after by people with money, is to steal the style and substance of one's speeches and affirm that there is no God. These constitute the chief distinctions of the Kansas statesman, and the newspapers and financial institutions of the country can have no other reasons for seeking his services.

Yet, the situation might easily have been worse. If the moon-eyed Blakely had taken another brandy and soda with the ex-senator, perhaps we should have beheld a picture of all the newspapers, banking institutions and trust companies of North America, whirling around Mr. Ingalls and offering him all their available funds, with Howard Carroll, in the midst of the confusion, making an earnest and justifiable attempt to save the most profitable of Pappy Starin's transportation lines.

Reed's Reckless Work.

Speaker Reed, apparently in a spirit of revenge for the defeat of his party in the late congressional elections, is making the most of the time left him during the closing hours of the present congress, and is adding to his reputation for recklessness and political depravity. His programme for today, as announced by our special correspondent, is in keeping with his past record—a last and desperate resort to benefit the party at the expense of the people.

We refer especially to his resolution which provides for the seating of three republican contestants of democratic seats, who will thereby pocket snug sums of money and retire with the rest of them.

But it is all right. Reed and Harrison are making up the republican record that we referred to yesterday—or rather, they are putting the finishing touches to it. It is a record that will go before the people, who will render their final verdict at the proper time.

Mr. Harrison has fallen into line and has been rather reckless of late in some of his appointments and general official actions. But he must needs play his part in making up the republican record, and he is doing it in the most approved partisan fashion.

What a great mistake it is for a handful of men to conduct business on the principle that "we are the majority and the people are ours!"

A Pledge From Chicago.

Of late Chicago has given vent to unexpected, but not unwelcomed, sentiments of friendliness to the south, and has evinced considerable fraternal feeling toward southern people. We do not know the secret of this much desired change and are, therefore, ready and willing to attribute it to the best of motives and to believe in the sincerity of Chicago's professions.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was the orator of the day at Chicago's memorial celebration of Washington's birthday. His presence there has resulted in great good, as we gather from the columns of our contemporary, The Chicago News, which on behalf of the people of Chicago has given a pledge of good faith and good feeling toward the south. Our contemporary regards the selection of Mr. Breckinridge as the orator of the day at a Chicago celebration as a happy omen, and after many well-merited compliments to the distinguished Kentuckian, gives this pledge of peace and friendship for the future.

> Mr. Breckinridge's fame in congress rests not more upon his eloquence than upon his exalted mission as a healer of sectional wounds and the uncompromising foe of those bitter partisans whose stock in trade is the perpetuation of the grievances of the civil war.
>
> Chicago honored herself in making Mr. Breckinridge her guest and spokesman on a notable patriotic occasion. For the next three years this city will pre-eminently typify a reunited nation, and will stand as an exponent of the cultivation of the arts of peace. If Mr. Breckinridge's honored mission to Chicago shall be accepted by the south as a feeble measure of the extent of Chicago's good will to that prosperous and vigorous portion of the United States, the result will not be unworthy the liberal and patriotic public services of the Union League club.

We commend these sentiments of good will and friendly feeling, and warmly reciprocate them. But why place a limit of three years to such worthy work? Our contemporary probably refers to the opportunity Chicago will have during that period of demonstrating the virtues enumerated above, as three years will cover the time of preparation for, and the consummation of, the world's fair. But we will give her the benefit of the doubt, with the added hope that the pledge made may be permanent; that she will stamp out the last flickering fires of sectionalism within the limits of the metropolis of the west, and give us the proof positive that the union of hands means also a union of hearts. The south will meet the west half way upon that ground and shake hands with hearty friendship.

Will The Inter Ocean make a note of this and join the friendly alliance?

The Tech's Preparatory Department.

The trustees of the Technological school have completed arrangements for the establishment of a preparatory department in connection with the school.

This puts within reach of every young man in Georgia a thorough mechanical education. No entrance examination is required of candidates for admission to this department; and many of those who would be unable to enter a regular class now because they have not the education required to begin with, can enter the preparatory school and receive the benefit of a training in the mechanical department, all the while they are studying to enter one of the regular classes.

This enlarges the sphere of usefulness of the school, and starts it on a new era of prosperity.

The preparatory school opens on the 16th of March. Professor Ernest E. West, a graduate of the United States Naval academy has accepted the position of principal. A more fortunate selection could not have been made.

The Worst of Fellows.

Colonel John R. Fellows, of New York, has made himself notorious by one after-dinner speech. No man will envy him his notoriety, however, and it will not prove a very savory morsel to his palate in future. It is hard to believe that any sensible, honorable man could have made such a speech as that attributed to Colonel Fellows.

It will be remembered that this learned, patriotic man, while a guest at a Washington's birthday banquet in New York city, created something of a sensation by declaring in open meeting that, although he had been an officer in the confederate army, he had always felt that he was a traitor to his country, who deserved to be hung, if captured, and that he was not hung was due mainly to the mercy of God.

This is a fine admission for a confederate soldier to make at this late hour in the day, or at any time, and it places Colonel Fellows in a contemptible light before the world. If, indeed, he made that statement, he has injured his reputation with the north and south, and reflected upon his honor and bravery as a man and soldier.

If Colonel Fellows was guilty of the sentiments attributed to him, he has not only wronged the south, but the people of the north, whom he seeks to flatter and conciliate at a fearful sacrifice; for if he fought the battles of the south with his hand, and the battles of the north with his heart, he was a traitor to both, and merits only the contempt of men.

We are sorry to see this "bloody shirt" business revived, even at a dinner table. Such sentiments as those expressed by Colonel Fellows can do no good to the man or the country. Men of the Fellows stripe should be sat down upon, and relegated to the rear—a position with which they are familiar from their experience during the war.

Editors' Day at Chautauqua.

As will be seen from a notice in another column, Tuesday, March 31st, will be "Press Day" at the Georgia Chautauqua, and it may be reasonably expected that it will be one of the best days of the session.

The Georgia Weekly Press Association, which numbers among its members some of the brightest minds in the state, will be present in full force—a notable gathering of notable men, who will give grace to the occasion and make it one to be long remembered.

These editorial gatherings are always pleasant and profitable to the fraternity, and this Chautauqua meeting will afford the editors an enjoyable and brilliant holiday which they had not looked for previous to their next annual meeting in Atlanta.

Albany will excel herself in the entertainment of the editors, as Atlanta will when she gets them within her gates.

The Study of Spanish.

It has been the fashion to study French and German to the neglect of Spanish. In our State university the two former are given the preference, and a student of Spanish is rare in our schools or colleges.

The time for this neglect has passed. Heretofore we have had little to do with Spanish-speaking people, but the probability is that we will have a great deal to do with them hereafter. They are our neighbors. With the exception of the United States and Canada, all Americans on both sides of the equator speak Spanish. It is the language of Cuba, Mexico, Central America, and all the South American countries. Brazil speaks Portuguese, which is almost the same thing.

The unmistakable drift of things is toward a nearer affiliation of the American republics.

There is in session at Washington at this time a commission called to devise a plan for the issue of a common coin to circulate in all those countries. There is the recent reciprocity treaty with Brazil, which makes the United States the most favored nation by 25 per cent on the Brazilian tariff. There is the Nicaragua canal, which will open up the west coast of South America to the manufacturers of the southern states. There are the railroad systems which bring us closer each year to Mexico.

Since the new treaty of reciprocity was signed, railroads have begun forming lines to the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, with the view of putting on steamers to South and Central America. The future of our trade with those countries appears greater each year.

Within the next decade the bookkeepers of Atlanta may expect to make out invoices in Spanish, and the receiving clerks may be called on to check off Spanish invoices.

The correspondence of large firms will have to be conducted largely in Spanish, and commercial travelers will be sent where they will have to sell goods in Spanish. It will soon be a matter of necessity to equip ourselves for the South American trade and the curriculums of our schools and colleges ought to be recast with that view. It will be an easy matter. The Latin tongues are, as a rule, easy to learn, and Spanish is one of the easiest. It has several thousand words in common with the English, and persons who, like General Hyndman, find themselves in a Spanish-speaking country, acquire enough command of the language for business purposes in a few months. Besides its ease of acquisition, it is a delightful accomplishment. Spanish is one of the most euphonious languages and its dulcet tones are refreshing to those who hear only the harsh jargon of cold climates. There is no excuse for neglecting it longer.

AFTER THE 4th of March, the wonderful power of Speaker Reed will have disappeared. He will then have nothing to remind him of his glory but his large expanse of bowels.

A METEOR bursted in Maine last Monday. This is very significant. There are several other Maine meteors that are swollen almost to the extent of bursting.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL says that "the falsified journal of the fifty-first house is a disgrace to the country." And this is a mistake. The country is not responsible for it. It is a disgrace—so far as anything can be a disgrace—to the republican party.

SPEAKER REED has largely overworked his proboscis since he set up in business as a Tin God. It is one of the misfortunes of this man that he cannot speak through his mouth as other people do, but has to call to his assistance his resounding proboscis. The effect on sensitive persons is very pronounced. Little children cry out in pain, and people whose flesh has a tendency to "crawl" are compelled to seek safety in flight. The situation is altogether horrible.

THE REPUBLICAN party is beginning to discover that the alliance is an affair that means business.

THE FEAT of Mr. Benjamin Harrison in making a negro tramp postmaster will add greatly to the well-known popularity of the republican party in Mississippi. We may look for a B. Harrison renaissance, as it were, all along the line.

THE CANDIDACY of Mr. Bill McKinley, for governor of Ohio, will settle a very important ethnological problem. If he is elected the result will show that the average voter of Ohio is a natural born fool and not an educated idiot.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE VISIT of the German empress to Paris seems likely to have unhappy results. At any rate, the action of the French artists in refusing to exhibit their pictures in Berlin has stirred up enough ill-feeling to make the breach wider than ever between France and Germany.

THE CHICAGO papers are determined. They say that if congress refuses to do the handsome thing by the fair, Chicago will foot the bill and have it anyhow. This is business.

THE NEW prime minister of Italy says he is in favor of peace, but he believes in keeping his sword drawn and his gun loaded.

J. A. MORSE, a young man well known in San Francisco, has set up a kingdom of his own on a little island in the Pacific ocean, which he has bought for $5,000. He has introduced a population of South Sea Islanders, and has had them employed in setting out large quantities of cocoanut and banana trees. He is absolute ruler and monarch of everything in sight. His purchase promises to be a profitable one.

WHEN A MAN who has held a government position dies poor, people are disposed to wonder and speculate. Has it come to pass that an honest official is a national curiosity?

Mrs. A. J. Langston is the only woman mail contractor in the United States. Not only does she have routes sublet, but has always had more or less directly under her personal supervision. At present she has contracts covering over 1,000 miles of mail service, principally in Butler and Pluma counties, California.

Of the recent tragedy in Ohio The Boston Post says: Two rival editors in Columbus have engaged in a duel, with the result that one of the principals and a bystander have been killed. This is another of those things that they order better in France. In that country duels between journalists are matters of every day occurrence; and, though they are fierce enough, they are never fatal. Western civilization is imperfect, even so far east as Ohio.

AN EDITORIAL PICNIC.

Editor Clement, of The Cumming Clarion, is in the city in the interest of his paper, which is a first-class advertising medium and enjoys a good circulation.

An exchange notes the fact that very few editors have died this year. There is nothing surprising in this. The truth is, they can't afford a funeral.

The Buffalo, N. Y., Express will please be more careful in crediting articles from Georgia newspapers. It attributed a beautiful poem on "Spring," which appeared in this column recently, to "The Georgia Bazoo." It should have been "The Billville Banner."

The Macon County Citizen has engaged the services of a first-class Georgia humorist, who is spreading himself in its columns.

Jones—Do you see that man up yonder who is painting the steeple?

Brown—Yes; what about him?

Jones—Why, he once was a Georgia editor; but by honesty, perseverance and strict attention to business, he has risen above us all.

Dahlonega's two newspapers are published within ten steps of a gold mine. A first-class gold mine can keep two newspapers running with the greatest of ease.

Here is a characteristic poem from one of our Georgia exchanges:

The birds in music sing all day,
The scented breezes sigh;
Thank heaven, though street tax we must pay,
We have no wood to buy.

For spring is here: Sweet echoes float
O'er dreamy vale and town;
Hang up the woolen overcoat
And shake the duster down!

Editor Underwood, of The Camilla Clarion, is busy writing his speech for the editors' meeting at Chautauqua. It will contain sixty type-written pages with side notes and a short appendix, which will explain all doubtful portions.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION is a "hummer."

A NOTABLE OCCASION.

Graphic Description of an Event in the Life of Dr. Armstrong.

From The Augusta Evening Herald.

Years ago there was a huge demonstration of Irish and Irish-Americans in Atlanta, and I was assigned by The Augusta Chronicle to report it for that paper. At DeGive's opera house, behind the curtain before exercises were begun, in the dark, almost, I was introduced to Dr. J. G. Armstrong, who was to be one of the orators of the evening. This was shortly after the trial of the doctor in Atlanta. Half an hour later I was among the audience. Dr. Armstrong was introduced by Mr. P. J. Moran, of THE CONSTITUTION. As he stepped before the footlights and bowed, cheering began and there were waving of fans, handkerchiefs and clapping of hands, from, apparently, every man, woman and child in the house. And DeGive's was packed—every seat was occupied and all available standing room was utilized.

Dr. Armstrong advanced a step further toward his audience. Men rose to their feet and waved hats and handkerchiefs. Women, also rising, frantically waved their shawls and fascinators; one man stood upon the seats, and, taking his coat off, waved it high above his head. Others followed suit all over the house. There never was such an ovation. The doctor bowed his acknowledgments and proceeded to deliver one of the grandest orations on the Irish question ever heard in Atlanta—or elsewhere.

Last year I was working at a desk on The Atlanta Journal. Dr. Armstrong came into the room, looked at me for a moment, and, calling my name, entered into a pleasant chat, he remarking that he had met me at DeGive's on the night I have mentioned. He had not seen me for years. When he met me, in the wings of the opera house, he could have scarcely seen my face. Dr. Armstrong's was a retentive mind, indeed. I was much surprised that he remembered me.

Sizing Them Up.

From The Brunswick, Ga., Times.

There are a lot of men in this world who think they are mighty important. But they aren't. They are not worth as much to the country as a knot on a pine log.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The West End Council.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: What is the matter with the West End council? Have they given up all idea whatever of paying any attention to the streets of West End, which are now in a worse condition than ever, and which are growing in a more deplorable condition every day? There is no possible excuse for this neglect, and as a citizen I rise to inquire what is the matter. X. Y. Z.

We regret to say that it is impossible for us to give the desired information. Probably as soon as the West End council finishes planting spring crops and putting early vegetable seeds in the ground, it will have time to attend to the public business.

Will They Resign?

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: Is it true that the council of West End contemplates resigning on the plea that it is incapable of meeting the demand for decent streets? A. B.

We cannot say whether or not the report of the contemplated resignation is true. We can say, however, that it is not necessary for the West End council to take this step to satisfy the public that it is unable to cope with the question of street improvements, which are more needed in West End than in any other spot on the civilized earth.

How About Undertakers' Rates?

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: I hear it reported that the undertakers of Atlanta are going to strike and raise rates for conducting funerals through West End on account of the terrible condition of the streets, which, it is said, have caused the carriage men to charge extra rates on all carriages that go to West End, most of which return with broken springs. I hope that this report is not so, for funeral rates are high enough.

GRAVEYARD.

We do not know that the liverymen have raised rates on carriages going to West End, but we do know that if they have they are fully justified in so doing. Probably, after two or three more thousand carriages bog to their hubs in the morass of Gordon street, and a hundred or so more handsome vehicles are ruined, the council of West End will take some action toward putting the main street of the town in passable condition.

A Query by a Southern Lady.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: My attention was called to a piece in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION of last Friday. To my horror and consternation I learned that at a meeting of the confederate veterans they had decided to mutilate the once loved and honored grey uniform of the confederates by substituting the dark blue pants for the grey. Is it possible that southern soldiers can for one moment take such a measure into consideration? To take such a step would be to cover the grey with reproach, and no confederate should do so, when he remembers his comrades who fell in the grey. Ah! southern soldiers, think well before you take such a step. If you wish to discard the honored grey, then discard all—no half-way measure will do. Do you think you will gain honor by such an act? Alas! No; for your foes were brave men—they, too, fought and bled—for should you ask them if they would give up a part of the blue for a part of the grey, they would indignantly refuse any such betrayal of what they hold so dear. And will you, southern soldiers, let it be said that you were not as true to your colors as the northern soldiers are to theirs? PALMETTO.

A Call for the Weekly Press.

To the Georgia Weekly Press Association: The Georgia Chautauqua, at Albany, has extended a cordial invitation to the Georgia Weekly Press Association to attend the approaching session. The assembly will open on Sunday, March 29th, with annual sermon by Rev. Charles J. Little, D.D., Ph.D. A brilliant programme, including addresses by distinguished statesmen and speakers, has been arranged for the week.

Tuesday, March 31st, has been set apart as "press day," and representatives of the Georgia Weekly Press Association, and of the Georgia Press Association, will deliver addresses. The city of Albany tenders a banquet to the newspapers on the evening of that day. The Chautauqua and the Artesian City have honored the press, and the members of the Georgia Weekly Press Association are hereby requested to attend.

J. L. UNDERWOOD,

Camilla, Ga., February 27, 1891.

Exchanges please copy.

A Permanent Exposition.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: I was much pleased with the suggestion of Governor Northen that we should have a permanent exhibition of our mineral and manufactured articles, and everything calculated to attract attention to the wonderful resources of our southern country in general, and of the city of Atlanta and the Piedmont region in particular. This should be open to the inspection of travelers and visitors, at all times, at a very moderate charge. Of course the building containing the exhibit should be in the center of the city and easily accessible to all.

I would suggest that some arrangement be made to have it extend from Loyd to Broad street, a part to be used as a market, a part as an exhibition hall, and a part as a machinery annex, to be run at certain times in lieu of an exhibition in Piedmont park.

Of course there would be difficulties in carrying out such a grand enterprise, and I leave the solution of these, and the details to others.

If this suggestion were carried out, the present depot should be removed to the terminus of Alabama street, which should be extended and the depot built in the triangular hole, which, in my judgment, is the place above all others for it.

I commend this outline to the consideration of our business men, who can not fail to see the advantages of such a movement, and who are the proper ones to meet and overcome the difficulties involved in putting into execution a work which would do more for our city and country than anything that can be done. W.

Southern Insurance.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION: The Athens insurance letter, printed in your paper of the 26th instant, contains a very wise and timely suggestion. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually drawn by eastern life insurance companies from the south, of which only a small proportion is returned in settlement of death claims, matured endowments, etc. Since life insurance has proved a very profitable business for eastern companies, there can be no reason, certainly no good reason, why a southern company should not prosper. The eastern companies have, however, not only the advantage of an honorable record of nearly half a century, but also the further advantage of having vast sums of money at their command to which the south has most liberally contributed. They have, moreover, an agency force working all over the south so vigorous and progressive that nothing short of a unanimous decision of the people in the south to patronize their home company in preference to all others, will oust them from the stronghold they occupy. Only a very solid company could achieve the desired result, a company with whose financial success the leading citizens of the leading cities of the south must be financially and personally identified. The company should not be started with a smaller capital than $1,000,000, to be subscribed for by the people of Atlanta, Athens, Columbus, Rome, Savannah, Chattanooga, Memphis, Montgomery, Mobile, New Orleans, etc. There should be a distinct understanding that the stock capital will be gradually retired, and the company changed into a mutual life insurance company. No life insurance company can give complete satisfaction nowadays, unless it be placed finally on a basis of mutuality. The question will then arise what compensation shall the stockholders receive for starting the company and for retiring from its management after having launched it unto a successful and prosperous career? This agreement must be made at the start, so that there be no misconstruction possible when the change is to take place. The safety of the company must be in no way endangered by the withdrawal of its capital. If the people of the south want a home life insurance company, patriotism should play a prominent part in its promotion. We should be satisfied with 7 per cent interest which the company will pay on the capital stock during the ten years of its circulation, and the indirect profits we shall all derive from the existence of such an enterprise. There will be further benefits accruing to each insuring individual from the large dividends the company will pay to its policy holders, for once placed on a footing of mutuality it is bound to become the largest dividend-paying company in the world. Every one of us will be able to get insurance at a reasonable rate, a much lower rate than we are paying now. The money of the company will be invested in the south at southern rates of interest, subject to no fluctuation of Wall street, regulated and controlled by patriotic and public-spirited men of the south, who will bring this vast and important enterprise to such a successful issue that before the current decade is past it will be the most solid and most momentous enterprise of the day. There is a great deal more to be said in substantiation of this, but I do not wish to trespass upon your space too much at this preliminary state. I should like to hear the opinion of other informed men and shall be glad to say more on the subject later on. Very respectfully, LIFE INSURANCE PRACTICUS.

DROPPED DEAD.

A Young Lady's Sudden Death Yesterday.

Miss Hattie Churchill dropped dead yesterday between 12 and 1 o'clock.

She was at home at the time, but both her father and mother were away.

Miss Churchill was the youngest daughter of Mr. A. R. Churchill. She was twelve years old, and for the past few years has been an invalid.

Heart disease was the cause of her death.

Until a week or two ago, she had been confined to her bed for seven months continuously.

Yesterday her father went to Dr. Green, under whose treatment she has been, and her mother went out to a grocery store close by, leaving her sitting in a chair before the fire.

An older sister and two little brothers were in the house, but death came so quickly that they could no nothing to stay its relentless hand.

The young lady got up out of the chair for something. Before she had time to take a step forward, she dropped back with a little scream, and in a few moments was dead.

Mrs. Churchill came in the door just as her beloved child expired.

NEARLY A HUNDRED OF THEM.

The Ohio Visitors Will Arrive in Atlanta this Morning.

The Ohio visitors reach Atlanta this morning in charge of Major W. L. Glessner, of Americus.

The party consists of fruit growers, farmers and capitalists. Sixty of them left Cleveland, and twenty-five more joined the party at various points in Ohio.

Major Glessner met them at Cincinnati, and has arranged the itinerary for their trip through Georgia and into Florida.

The party remains in Atlanta until Monday.

The Mother Goose Entertainment.

An enjoyable entertainment was given by the younger pupils of Washington seminary, on Walton street, last evening. The Billville Banner.

From The Macon County, Ga., Citizen.

The Billville Banner is on our table. The people of Billville have long wanted a representative journal. When we tramped through there last fall the marshal of the town, on behalf of the citizens, we presume, wanted us to linger and drink in the pine-scented atmosphere of that little mountain village, but we tarried not. We saw a prospect of a square meal in the next town, and hastened thitherward. All we can say to the editor is, we hope he won't have to "carry the Banner" while in Billville, but can get some native to officiate in that capacity.

YOUNG PHYSICIANS.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT ECLECTIC MEDICAL COLLEGE.

Thirty-one New Doctors Graduated this Term—Award of Gold Medals for Two Highest Averages.

The annual commencement exercises of the Eclectic Medical Association of Georgia were held at Concordia hall last evening in the presence of an audience that taxed the capacity of the hall to its utmost.

Thirty-one medical students were presented with diplomas, entitling them to all the rights, privileges and immunities of that great profession.

The occasion was indeed a happy and joyous one, and will long be remembered by the young men, rewarded with an entrance to the ranks of the profession, as a result of hard study, ability and unremitting toil.

After an orchestral selection and the opening prayer, by the Rev. Dr. Barnett, of the Second Presbyterian church, the report of the dean of the faculty, Dr. G. W. Delbridge, was read.

This was followed by another selection of music by the orchestra, after which the salutatorian, Dr. N. P. Johnson, delivered his address on "The Eclectic Science of Medicine."

Eclecticism, he said, had already fulfilled its mission as shown by its several thousand successful graduates who have made the name famous and honored throughout all portions of the country. It has held a prominent position for half a century among the medical colleges of America, and has had large classes from the commencement.

Dr. Johnson spoke of the aims and accomplishments of eclecticism, and said it represented the true progress of the practice of medicine. The science of medicine is no more a speculative theory; not a haphazard system or series of reckless experiments, but it is a grand collective science, composed of philosophical principles that are mathematically true. Grant, he said, that this class may deserve the credit of being the best ever graduated from this college, and become an honor to the profession, for the man who administers to the trembling life of the body is the greatest man on earth.

Dr. J. C. Stone had been chosen as the valedictorian of the year, but owing to illness his address was omitted from the programme.

The Rev. Dr. Barnett delivered the annual address, and his eloquent speech was interlarded with witty and pointed remarks that kept his hearers in a continued state of laughter.

"This is one of the most important epochs of your lives, young gentlemen," he said. "You came here a few months ago to study out for yourselves a noble profession, and by diligence and application you have laid the foundation of a useful life. You have formed hearty and life-long friendships one with another, but now, at the very threshold of your lives, you are about to separate, forever, perhaps, and take up the duties of your life work.

"I come from another profession to speak words of sympathy and counsel. We are closely allied, as my profession and yours meet in Him whose prerogative it was to heal all diseases. The medical profession is an important and progressive science. Every family in the land is interested in it, for in every human body are implanted the seeds of disease.

"The profession of medicine requires the best of men—men well equipped both mentally and physically. And yet, though its followers are highly respected, they are the hardest worked and poorest paid of any class of men. The physician works seven days a week, at all hours of the day and night, and in all kinds of weather, and is not even allowed the seventh day on which to rest.

"In closing I would say to you, be studious, you have merely laid the foundation on which to build, and persistent, systematic study will develop all there is in you and make you successful practicing physicians."

At the close of Dr. Barnett's address, the following gentlemen were presented with diplomas—tokens of the passage of a successful examination:

Drs. Robert L. Rylee, H. M. Ranch, J. W. Roberts, P. B. Spear, C. C. McCandless, J. A. Thompson, M. D. Striplin, J. C. Stone, George L. Tiffany, D. S. Seay, M. C. Wilson, W. M. S. Wilson, W. E. Williams, M. P. Williams, G. H. Weldon, N. J. Gruzzard, J. B. Jones, S. H. Johnson, M. K. Jenkins, J. F. King, B. S. McNeal, W. V. McMichael, M. A. Owens, J. W. M. Brown, J. O. Bryant, C. C. Bullard, W. S. Belyer, B. B. Chandler, A. S. Carbon, W. A. Cox, C. H. Field.

The gold medal for the best general average in all the branches was awarded to Dr. William S. Wilson, of Georgia. Dr. H. N. Rolfe, of Pennsylvania, was awarded the gold medal for the second best general average in all branches. These medals were gifts of the members of the board of trustees of the association.

GOOD FOR THE TECH.

A PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT TO BE OPENED MARCH 16.

Professor Ernest E. West, of Rome, Elected Principal—This Will Let In 175 More Young Men.

A preparatory department of the Technological school will be opened on the 16th of March.

All arrangements have been completed.

Professor Ernest E. West, of Rome, Ga., a graduate of the United States Naval academy in the class of '88, will be superintendent of this department.

This starts the school out on a new era of usefulness, and multiplies its power for good.

"It has all along been a source of regret to us," said Dr. I. S. Hopkins, yesterday, "that we were compelled to turn off young men anxious to secure this technological training, but whose school advantages have been so limited that they could not pass the entrance examinations.

"The establishment of this department remedies all that. It puts a thorough, practical, mechanical education within the reach of every young man in the state.

"As soon as they enter this department—which requires no examination—they will be advanced just as rapidly as possible to the standard of the regular classes. From the time they enter they will be given the benefit of the mechanical training, the facilities of the shops being enlarged to accommodate them.

"The arrangements have been made for 150 to 175 new scholars in this department. I have no doubt a much larger number than this will apply for admission, and the rule will have to be first come, first served.

"I regard the establishment of this department as a most fortunate thing for the school. It enables us to reach a deserving class of young men that could not be admitted heretofore, and to give them a useful, practical education.

"As to the selection of Professor West, that is another fortunate circumstance. He is a Georgian, and graduated from the naval academy with high honor. He is a young man eminently qualified for the place, and a better selection could not have been made.

"The preparatory school opens on the 16th of March, and I shouldn't be surprised if there were enough applications on the first day to fill it; so young men who wish to enter had better be on hand promptly that day."

THE S. T. A.

Will Hold a Grand Rally at Its Quarters this Evening.

The Southern Travelers' Association will hold a grand rally this evening at its rooms in the old capitol building, and, in all probability, it will be a most enthusiastic one.

The meeting will be doubly important from the fact that one of the principal questions to come up will be the consideration of its very healthy offspring, the Commercial Travelers' Savings bank.

It is the desire of the originators of this bank that not only every commercial man, but every wholesale and retail merchant throughout business circles, should secure a limited amount of stock. The plan, the proprietors say, will give to everybody a chance now to secure stock at par for which a premium will have to be paid at a later date. The stock, they say, is being rapidly taken up and, although no special effort of solicitation has been made, over $250,000 have already been subscribed for, and many of those who have subscribed are asking the committee to double their stock.

The officers of the association desire the attendance of every member at the meeting this evening, which convenes at 7 o'clock sharp.

The organization committee asks for a full report from the committee on subscriptions this evening, so that each subscriber may be notified that his stock is being entered on the books in regular order.

The following gentlemen, who will be amont the incorporators, are asked to meet at the same time: Messrs. John M. Green, George P. Allen, T. J. Hightower, H. L. Atwater, W. A. Hansell, Charles I. Branan, W. T. Ashford, A. C. Hook, John B. Daniel, W. A. Gregg, C. D. Montgomery, D. O. Dougherty, L. Lieberman, W. W. Draper, A. J. McBride, Joseph Hirsch, Joel Hurt, J. G. Oglesby, Louis Wellhouse, Dr. J. D. Turner.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

A Small Fire.—A small frame dwelling on State, between Corbett and Pine streets, caught fire yesterday morning, and an alarm sent in at 11:40 o'clock called out the department. It was extinguished with little loss, the blaze being confined to the woodwork around the chimney. The origin of the fire is a mystery, as the house is vacant. It is owned by John Rice.

A Successful Raid.—Yesterday Deputy Sheriffs Donehoo and Barnes, with Detective Green, located a number of gamblers in a dry kiln at the Chattahoochee brickyard. They bagged the crowd, capturing a quantity of packs of cards and a considerable amount of money and chips. The negroes, twelve in number, were lodged in Fulton county jail.

Captain Hunter Ill.—Captain James Hunter, ex-sheriff of DeKalb county, and a brave old confederate, is lying very ill at his home in Decatur. Captain Hunter has been confined to his bed with pneumonia for a week. His condition is very serious, and his friends everywhere are solicitous for his speedy recovery.

A German Paper for Atlanta.—Beginning Saturday, May 8th, a German eight-page weekly paper will be published here, under the name of The Atlanta Deutsche Zeitung. Its editor is Rev. J. H. Kierner, pastor of the German Lutheran church. Sufficient financial backing has been promised to make it a success. The German denizens of Atlanta will doubtless take pride in liberally patronizing and permanently maintaining such a paper.

The Beef Men.—Yesterday there were petitions for injunctions filed by the Atlanta Beef Company, the Armour Packing Company and the Morrison and Nelson Company against Andy P. Stewart, to restrain him from collecting the special tax. These cases will all be heard on March 9th, Judge Clarke having granted a restraining order until that time.

A Temporary Order.—In the petition of T. W. McFerrin vs. Captain Ed Cox, yesterday, for temporary injunction, Judge Marshall Clarke granted the order, and set the case for a hearing Saturday. Recently differences arose between Mr. McFerrin and Captain Cox, in some business matters, and the former claims that he is interested in some stock that the latter is trying to dispose of in the course of business.

The Coroner's Jury.—Yesterday the coroner's jury in the Arthur Hudson case, after hearing the testimony of Mrs. Hudson, an aunt of the deceased, and a negro who was on the train which ran over Hudson, returned this verdict:

"We, the jury impaneled and sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of Arthur Hudson, find from the evidence that he came to his death by being run over by a box car of a freight train of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company, in the yard of said company, and that the said Hudson was an employe of the said company, and, in our opinion, the said railroad company was criminally negligent."

Mr. Grady Ill.—The friends of Mr. Will Grady will regret to learn that he has been for the past week confined to his room under medical treatment. Symptoms yesterday were more favorable and hopes are entertained of early recovery.

The Finest Boy Known.

With pleasure do we inform you that on January 28th were we blessed with the advent of a fine boy, weighing 10¾ pounds—perfect, healthy and fine-looking. We had no need of a physician. All well and doing well. General verdict: He is the finest boy known, is growing fast, good-natured and fully developed. Thanks for assistance obtained through the use of "Mothers Friend." We are well and favorably impressed with the merits of the remedy, believing all ladies who use it will be benefited.

May success attend you in your endeavors to send assistance to suffering women during the trials incident to child-bearing.

THE ADVISORY BOARD

Will Visit Salt Springs Today and Probably Decide Tonight.

The military advisory board of the state has nearly finished a week of hard work.

The board met in Atlanta on Monday last to open the bids for a permanent encampment ground for the military of the state. They found before them bids from Brunswick, Macon, LaGrange Griffin, Tallulah Falls, Chickamauga Park and Salt Springs.

With the bids they received invitations to visit each place. They passed a resolution to do so, and left Atlanta on the Rome accommodation Monday evening.

At Rome on Tuesday morning they examined the ground offered, and then proceeded to Chickamauga the same day on a special in charge of Mr. Sam Parrot, who represented the bid for Chickamauga. After examining the Chickamauga site they came to Atlanta on Tuesday night and took the Air-Line train, in a special car provided by Mr. Bailey Thomas who represented the Tallulah bid, to Tallulah Falls, and on Wednesday night, returning from Tallulah Falls, took the 12 o'clock train to LaGrange, where they were received by a committee headed by Captain Barnard and Lieutenant McClure of the Troup Hussars, and Captain Autry and Lieutenant Pittman of the LaGrange Light Guards, who showed them the property offered by LaGrange. Boarding the east-bound train, they reached East Point just in time to catch the train on the Central going towards Macon on Thursday afternoon. Getting off the train at Griffin they were received by the committee, headed by Colonel Mills, Hon. Fred Dismuke and Hon. Frank Flint, and under their charge examined the ground offered by Griffin.

Then boarding the Georgia Midland train, which had been held for them by the courtesy of Mr. Jordan, they made a short cut to McDonough to strike the East Tennessee for Brunswick, which point they reached yesterday morning, where they were received by Mr. Kay, Captain U. Dart and Captain Thomas, of the cavalry.

After examining the site offered there they were to leave Brunswick so as to be in Macon this morning, where Colonel Wiley and Captain Roff Sims will show them the site offered by Macon, and if they can arrange to get a special so as to reach Atlanta by 3 o'clock this afternoon, Colonel John Milledge, who presented the bid for Marsh & Co., will endeavor to have a special on the Georgia Pacific to take the party to Salt Springs. If this is done the board will meet tonight in Atlanta and decide upon the locality, where the permanent state encampment is to be. This week's work of the advisory board has been a laborious campaign. The members of the board who have done this service are as follows:

Adjutant General Kell, Colonel Wiley, Colonel Jones, Colonel Mercer, Captain Semmes, Captain Clark, Captain Forbes and Captain Price Gilbert

GILLET CHAUTAUQUA.

A New President—Interesting Exercises in Memory of Dr. Armstrong.

The Gillet Chautauqua Circle assembled last night at the rooms of the school commissioner in the capitol. An entertainment in honor of the memory of Longfellow had been arranged, and the programme as printed in The Constitution, was well rendered, to the enjoyment of all present.

The resignation as president of Dr. Lee was received, and School Commissioner Bradwell was elected as his successor.

During the evening Major Hubner gave an interesting extemporary talk, complimenting the laudable work of the circle, and then relating reminiscences of a visit to Longfellow's home.

The meeting closed with memorial services in honor of Dr. J. G. Armstrong, and the following resolutions were read:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Gillett Chautauqua League, feeling that we owe a debt of gratitude to the memory of Dr. J. G. Armstrong that we can never repay, feeling that words of our own are far too weak to express the tender memories that dwell in our hearts for our lamented friend, and feeling, too, that the grand master mind, whose words and works we discuss tonight, looking through the horoscope of his own age, was able to see this master mind of our age and pen for us the words we would say, have selected words of Longfellow to dedicate to the memory of J. G. Armstrong.

> Garlands upon his grave,
> And flowers upon his hearse,
> And to the tender heart and brave,
> The tribute of this verse.
> Death takes us by surprise,
> And stays our hurrying feet,
> The great design unfinished lies,
> Our lives are incomplete.

> In Attica thy birthplace should have been,
> Or the Ionian Isles, or where the seas
> Encircle in their arms the cyclades,
> So wholly Greek wast thou in thy serene
> And childlike joy of life, O Philhellene!
> Around this would have swarmed the attic bees;
> Homer had been thy friend, or Socrates,
> And Plato welcomed thee to his demense;
> For thee old legends breathed historic breath;
> Thou sawest Poseidon in thy purple
> And in thy sunset sea Jason's fleece of gold!
> Oh, what hadst thou to do with cruel death,
> Who wast so full of life, or death with thee,
> That thou shouldst die before thou hast grown old!
> Oh, why shouldst thou be dead and come no more?
> Oh, why shouldst thou be dead when common men
> Are busy with their trival affairs,
> Having and holding? Why, when thou hadst read
> Nature's mysterious manuscript, and then
> Wast ready to reveal the truth it bears,
> Why art thou silent? Why shouldst thou be dead?
> Good night! Good night! as we so oft have said,
> Beneath this roof at midnight in the days
> That are no more and shall no more return,
> Thou hast but taken thy lamp and gone to bed;
> We stay a little longer, as those stay

A MAN'S AFFLICTIONS.

A Truly Sad Story of Sorrow and Need. Subscriptions Wanted.

Mr. W. J. Denson is a man who deserves the sympathies of the people of Atlanta.

A short time ago his mother died. Shortly afterward one of his children died, and yesterday, to add to his sorrow, his wife passed away at their home, No. 4 Henry street.

Mr. Denson is but a laboring man, dependent on daily wages for a support, and these accumulating afflictions have hampered him sorely.

Any one that wishes to do a charitable act can send a contribution to either The Constitution or Wylie & Barclay's undertaking establishment for the relief of this stricken family.

Buried in Westview.

The funeral of Mr. Theo Spinning occurred at the undertaking parlors of Wylie & Barclay yesterday morning. The services were beautifully conducted by Rev. Dr. R. S. Barrett, and there were quite a number of employes of the Franklin printing house and other friends present.

The remains were laid to rest in Westview.

Some of Atlanta's Sick.

Mr. Joe Scrutchins, who has been dangerously ill for some time, is now out of danger, and will be out in a day or two.

Mr. Jack Harris is improving, and his physicians now feel assured of his recovery.

Dr. Boring was quiet and easy last night late, and is now better.

As the modern railroad train is ahead of the old-time stage-coach, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla, a modern medicine, ahead of the old-time remedies. In positive merit it is peculiar to itself.

UP GOES COAL!

RAILROADS HAVE GIVEN NOTICE OF ADVANCE ON FREIGHTS,

Which Means that the Consumers Will Have It to Pay—What Coal Men and Railroad Men Have to Say.

Another jump in the price of coal.

It will come after March 10th, and is due to the railroads advancing freight rates on coal.

The people will pay that freight.

Several days ago dealers in the city were given an intimation that the advance was coming, and yesterday morning these intimations were confirmed.

The advance is all along the line. Every road that brings coal to Atlanta has joined in the notice, which applies to Tennessee and Alabama coal alike. The railroads claim that the advance is due to the action of the roads leading to the mines, and that the roads bringing the freight into Atlanta have endeavored to prevent an increase, but those on the inside say that these roads participate in the increase, and that the kick on their part was a very weak one—if there was any at all.

The advance is practically uniform at 25 cents on steam coal and 15 cents on domestic. In some cases, however, the increase on domestic runs as high as 50 cents a ton, and on steam 35 cents a ton.

The Consumer Will Pay.

Of course the consumer pays the freight in the end.

This is particularly true with regard to steam coal, on which an advanced price to the consumer may be expected. It is hardly likely that there will be much, if any, change in the price of domestic coal to private consumers, owing to the lateness at which the change goes into effect.

"I can see no good reason for any change," said a prominent dealer yesterday. "It is a hardship to the coalmen and to their customers, but we have to grin and bear it. This will, of course, necessitate an advance in our prices."

What Brought It About.

"Well, sir, the change is due to the fact that the rates of transportation have been too cheap," was Mr. J. L. Dickey's reply to a query as to the cause of the advance in rates.

"How will these new rates compare with the rates at the same time last year?"

"They will be little, if any higher. You see, for several y ve been dropping lower and lo reached a point where, in the opinio compa-nies, they were entirely too low. The advance comes, however, primarily from the initial roads—those leading to the mines. Then, too, there has been an advance in prices at the mines, I believe. But even with the advance the rate is not as high as it has been in the past."

"How much coal does Atlanta consume?"

"I suppose from 300,000 to 325,000 tons per year. The bulk of it comes from Tennessee, from the mines on the Cincinnati Southern and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis roads, and from the Jellico region over about Knoxville. Our road brings about half the coal that comes to Atlanta, I suppose."

Mr. Dickey added that these increased rates apply to all parts of Georgia, and not to Atlanta alone.

So up goes coal—and there seems to be no help for it.

A NEW ARMORY.

The Grady Cadets to Go in With the Zouaves.

The Grady Cadets will soon be occupying one of the coziest armories in the city.

Arrangements are being made by which the Cadets will occupy the Zouave armory jointly with that company.

The parlors of the two companies will, however, be distinct.

A large room next to the one used by the Zouaves is to be handsomely fitted up by the Grady's as their parlor. Between the two parlors a large folding door will be opened so that on special occasions both may be thrown together.

Another door will be cut from the Cadets' parlor into the drill hall, which is large and pleasant, and convenient offices for the quartermaster will be fitted up.

The Zouaves have a lease upon the armory for five years. They will divide their privilege in this with the Cadets.

Recently the Cadets have begun drilling regularly. The company is in fine condition.

CHURCHES MUST PAY.

An Atlanta Case Decided by the Supreme Court Yesterday.

The supreme court yesterday decided that churches were liable to be assessed for street paving like the property holders.

This is the second time the question has been carried to that court, both times from Atlanta, and this decision reverses the former one, which exempted the churches.

This decision was unanimous.

The case just decided, was a suit by the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta to recover money already paid for street paving.

It was carried to the supreme court by Messrs. Goodwin and Anderson, the city's attorneys. The decision effects all church property in Atlanta.

Royal Baking Powder Leads All.

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests, made both for them and the U. S. Government. The Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable Baking Powder offered to the public.

"HENRY A. MOTT, PH. D."
Late Chemist for U. S. Government.

"All chemical tests to which I have submitted it have proved the Royal Baking Powder perfectly healthful and free from every deleterious substance. It is purest in quality and highest in strength of any Baking Powder of which I have knowledge.

"WM. McMURTRIE, E. M., PH. D."
Late Chemist-in-chief U. S. Dep't of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"The strength of the Royal is shown to be 23 per cent. greater than any other.

"As a result of my investigations I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, and is of greatest strength.

"F. X. VALADE,
"Public Analyst, Ontario, Dominion of Canada."

The latest investigations by the United States and Canadian Governments show the Royal Baking Powder superior to all others in leavening strength.

Statements by other manufacturers to the contrary have been declared by the official authorities falsifications of the official reports.

Spring Humors

Spring Humors, whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, whether of the skin, scalp, or blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, are now speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the Cuticura Remedies when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. The almost miraculous cures daily effected by them prove this. No statement is made regarding them not warranted by the strongest evidence. They are, in truth, the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are absolutely pure, and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used on the youngest infant and most delicate invalid with gratifying and unfailing success. THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 27.—The stock market today gave evidence of good support in early trading, but heavy sales of Pacific Mail, uncovered some stop orders, and that stock was let off rapidly, which developed a more aggressive temper in bearish traders. Burlington was attacked with some success, and the advancing tendency in St. Paul, Union Pacific, Industrials, and the general list was checked. Dullness became the most prominent feature of the market again, relieved only by spurts of activity on leading shares and the under selling of bears. Susquehanna and Western stocks were quiet, but preferred was let off 1 per cent. None of the other low-priced shares developed any animation, and the market was as uninteresting as any for weeks. The opening was firm, and in most of the leading shares further improvement was made in early trading, but weakness developed in Pacific Mail and Burlington, which checked the upward movement and prices fell away again to the level of the opening figures. In late dealings, however, prices went still lower, although fluctuations were in all cases insignificant. The market finally closed dull and heavy, at a shade under first prices, and, except in Burlington, which was down 1⅛ per cent, and Pacific Mail, which lost 2¾ per cent, final changes were insignificant. Sales listed stocks aggregated 97,000 shares; unlisted, 8,000.

Exchange quiet but steady at 486@489; commercial bills 484½@487.

Money easy 1@3, closing offered at 1.

Sub-treasury balances: Coin, $151,987,000; currency, $8,291,000.

Governments dull but firm; 4s 121; 4½s 103.

State bonds dull and featureless.

NEW YORK, February 27.—Our market opened somewhat stronger, but soon lost its strength and continued weak during the balance of the day. The Granger stocks continued to be the point of attack, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy sold lower today than it has yet been in the present movement. Atchison securities were also weak. The feeling on these stocks is decidedly bearish, and it looks as though Mr. Gould and his party were perfectly willing that this bearish feeling should have full play and receive plenty of encouragement. The public remains as apathetic as ever. Transactions are almost entirely among professionals, and, barring the one encouraging feature of the excellent statement of earnings for January, published by the Union Pacific road, showing an increase of $600,000 in the net earnings for that month, there were no favorable developments in the situation of the day. Even Pacific Mail, which has recently been a strong stock, had a sharp decline of about 3 points on reports from Washington that the subsidy bill could not pass in its present shape. Money was in fairly good supply at about 3 per cent, but there was no strength to the bond market.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, February 27.—(Special.)—Our Manchester advices continue poor, cables today reporting forced sales of yarns by agents who were obliged to renew their loans falling due. Liverpool appears to have been more influenced by reports from this market than by our decline last evening, and closed steady at a decline of one point for the day. Our market opened steady at three points decline, losing two more, but rallied and closed firm at the opening prices under the influence exerted by the execution of some large orders to buy the new crop. The recent rainy weather has retarded planting operations, but the prospects are now for clearing weather, which will enable planters to make headway with their work. Despite the heavy receipts at the ports and interior towns and the movement from the plantations, operators continue unwilling to anticipate a further decline, and appear to be gradually covering and retiring from the market. So great an influence has the price upon their actions that they prefer to await events rather than anticipate them. Receipts at New Orleans tomorrow are estimated at 6,000 bales. Receipts at the ports are expected to be about 123,000 bales, at the interior towns 35,000 bales and the movement from the plantations is estimated at 112,000 bales.

NEW YORK, February 27—The following are the total net receipts of cotton at all United States ports since September 1, 1890.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, February 27.—Our market today has been dull, and rather easy this morning in consequence of the heavy receipts. Toward the close, however, in consequence of some orders to buy the new crop months values became firmer, closing at the best prices for the day. While cotton each day seems to gain some friends, the movement of the crop to us appears entirely too heavy to look for any improvement beyond occasional reactions. The plantation movement for the week is about 110,000 bales, against 68,000 bales last year, while the port receipts are about 125,000 bales and the interior 34,000 bales, which figures speak for themselves.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, February 27—May wheat opened strong at 97¾c, sold early at 97⅛@97¼c, afterward bulged to 97¾c and broke down to 97c. The market was dull and featureless during the last half hour of the session.

Corn started out strong because of the extremely light receipts, but weakened under the selling by quite a number of large local operators. Many of these were selling against calls which they had bought from 54½@55½, good for all of February. Trade was well evened up. May started at 56⅛c sold to 56⅜c, to 55¼@55⅞c and ranged around 55⅞c for some time.

Oats followed corn, and it appeared as though this grain was as well evened up as corn. May started at 48⅛c, sold to 48⅝c and was offered at 48c.

The provision market was firm. There was an absence of anything having the appearance of buying on long account.

The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago today:

CHICAGO, February 27.—The wheat situation shows but little change today from yesterday. Continued reports of damage to the continental crops, and indications of light shipments from Indian and Baltic ports for the spring months and the large clearances of wheat and flour from Atlantic ports, constitute the elements of strength and lent encouragement to holders. On the other hand, the large stocks in Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth weighing upon the market, and the disinclination of outside speculators to assist in carrying the load, is the depressing feature. The market closing about ½c higher than yesterday gives some further encouragement to holders.

Light receipts of corn continue, and farmers in the west and southwest seem not disposed to sell, believing that very high prices will prevail before the end of May. We think they are liable to hold too long for their own interest.

Receipts of oats are fairly liberal, and the stocks are so light that the price of the speculative grades is subject to the influence of the speculator who choses to buy more than is likely to be delivered. Trading was merely nominal.

Continued large receipts of hogs have acted as a constant pressure on the price of the hog product. There was some light buying by some of the packers today. We see no encouragement to holders of mess pork so long as the stock of short ribs and other meats continues so large.

AMONG THE RAILWAYS.

ALABAMA, GEORGIA AND FLORIDA ROAD IS AT A STANDSTILL.

Other News of Interest to Railroad Men All Through this Section of the South.

The Evening News recently stated that surveys had been completed for the Alabama, Georgia and Florida railroad from Quincy, Fla., to Bessemer, Ala., 380 miles. The casual reader of that item would possibly infer that the survey was something of late occurrence, and that work on the road was being carried on. Mr. W. S. Greene, chief engineer of the Georgia, Midland and Gulf road made the first surveys in 1889, shortly after the charter was secured. No organization of the road has been effected, however, no officers have been elected, no work is being done, and the whole enterprise is at a standstill, for the present, at least.

Captain Tyler, general manager of the New Orleans Short Line, and custodian of the union depot, has called a meeting of the new board of control of the depot for Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to effect an organization and elect a chairman of the board. The captain will resign the office of custodian and become a member of the board.

The Central railroad will establish a through sleeping car schedule between Savannah and Asheville about April 1st for the accommodation of the summer travel. Two of the new sleepers, the Augusta and the Spartanburg, and one of the old ones that has been remodeled will be put upon this service. The schedule will be as follows: Leave Savannah 8:10 o'clock p. m. and arrive at Asheville 8 o'clock p. m. the following day. Leave Asheville 10:10 o'clock a. m., and arrive in Savannah 6:30 o'clock a. m. the following day. The Central train will run seventy miles over the Richmond and Danville railroad, from Spartanburg to Asheville. Besides being a great convenience and saving a change of cars at Spartanburg, this schedule has the advantage of giving a daylight run through the lovely stretch of country between Spartanburg and Asheville both going and returning, which is in itself a great attraction.

Mr. B. C. Epperson, of Louisville, who was recently appointed superintendent of the Carolina division of the Central road, with headquarters at Augusta, has been connected with the Louisville and Nashville railroad for a number of years, and has a fine record as a railroad man. For twenty years he was a conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, running on the main stem. He succeeded Major M. S. Belknap as division superintendent of the Mobile and Montgomery division of the Louisville and Nashville, when Major Belknap went to Vicksburg and remained as superintendent of that division until he was removed to take charge of what is known as the Louisville Short Line from Louisville to Cincinnati. He has continued in the latter position up to his present appointment as superintendent of the Carolina division.

The Nashville and Chattanooga road has just completed several new postal cars for use on that system.

The Georgia railroad is about to erect a new general office building, passenger depot and freight warehouse at Augusta, the total cost of which, says The Herald, will be $200,000.

M. S. Sullivan, of Ludlow, Ky., has been appointed master mechanic of the Louisville Southern, with headquarters at Harrodsburg, Ky. He was formerly connected with the Cincinnati Southern.

There is a well-grounded rumor in railroad circles to the effect that at an early date the office of assistant superintendent of the Cincinnati Southern division of the Queen and Crescent will be created.

The Monon is building two magnificent vestibule trains to run between Chicago and Louisville, each of which will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000.

The Cincinnati Southern railroad has just accepted a fine offer from the Harriman, Ky., Land Company. According to the terms of the proposition the land company will build a bridge over the Emory river at a cost of $150,000, and present it to the railroad with $65,000 cash additional; in return the railroad, which now runs through Tunnel 27, and touches only the outskirts of the town, will do away with the tunnel entirely and use the bridge and make the main line at Emory Gap. It is understood that the Harriman people will soon commence work on the bridge.

It is said that the Dalton accommodation, which President Thomas has allowed to remain, is run at a loss. It takes $20 per day to operate the train, and as a rule, the company receives only $14 a day in fare.

Acworth is about to have a new depot. The depot now standing will be demolished and a new one erected in its stead.

The entire water-front of the Louisville and Nashville, in Pensacola, is in litigation. It is claimed by a gentleman named Richardson, who is suing for it in the Florida courts. The case is now on trial in the supreme court at Tallahassee.

PUBLIC SAFETY

DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of manufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sarsaparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

IN THE CITY HALL.

THE DAY A QUIET ONE WITH THE OFFICERS.

An Insurance Inspection Takes In the Fire Department and Waterworks—Mr. Hendrix Very Ill—Police Commission.

John W. Smith, general inspector of the national board of fire underwriters, is in the city stopping at Folsom's

Mr. Smith is inspecting the fire departments of the south.

About a year ago the national board of underwriters decided to secure the services of a competent fireman whose duty should be a careful and close inspection of the fire departments throughout the country.

Inspector Smith is now working through Georgia.

"This is," he said yesterday to Superintendent Richartis, of the waterworks, "my first visit south, and I must say that I am delighted with Atlanta. Then, too, I tell you Atlanta has a magnificent fire department."

"We all think so," remarked the superintendent.

"I got here this morning early, and while I was conversing with a local underwriter a fire alarm sounded. I then had occasion to see the department move and, by following it, to see the boys work at a fire. I was in the Brooklyn, N. Y., fire department thirty-six years and I know good work when I see it."

"And the boys worked well?"

"Splendidly. It was a long run and $50 will cover the damages. Now if your water supply is as good, Atlanta is fortunate, indeed."

Inspector Smith's duties are to visit all cities in the country of 25,000 people and over. He thus gives the fire department, the water supply and the building laws a complete study. All his information is transmitted to the national board of fire underwriters, and is sent out by the board to the tariff associations all over the country.

The report has quite an effect upon the insurance rate fixed by the tariff association.

Inspector Smith was well pleased with what he learned. Superintendent Richards and Chief Joyner supplied him with books, papers and reports containing all the information he may need for his report.

Hon. J. C. Hendrix's Condition.

Hon. J. C. Hendrix was resting nicely last night late.

But his condition is yet extremely dangerous.

Dr. C. E. Murphy, who has been attending Mr. Hendrix, makes a visit every two or three hours, day and night. Yesterday morning his patient's symptoms were so unfavorable that Dr. Murphy called in Dr. Armstrong. After a consultation the medical gentlemen agreed that Mr. Hendrix's condition was very critical. Late yesterday afternoon, however, he seemed to rally somewhat, and at dark it was thought that he was improving. Soon after dark he dropped off into a peaceful and quiet sleep, and at a late hour had not been aroused.

The Two Bridges.

The bridge committee is pushing the repair work on Broad street bridge vigorously.

A large force of hands is at work.

Three tiers or rows of supports are now being placed under the bridge. The supports are arranged between the railroad tracks and have been located by the chief engineer of the Central. They will strengthen the bridge materially and render it absolutely safe until the new structure is provided.

The Forsyth street bridge plans are now in the hands of the chief engineer of the Central railroad, and just as soon as he determines whether or not the supports can be used, bids for the work will be asked for.

The Nelson street bridge is now in the hands of the painters.

The Police Commission.

The general council next Monday will elect the two police commissioners to succeed Mr. Brown and Mr. Stevens.

The election has been the absorbing theme for two weeks.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Stephens have both publicly announced that they were out of the race. Both were candidates at first, but since that caucus a week ago both have decided to withdraw.

At one time it was generally believed that the result of that caucus had been broken, but with the past day or two that thought has taken a skip, and those who are best posted say that the candidates selected will be elected.

They are Mr. William Laird and Mr. W. S. Gramling, if the most reliable rumors can be depended upon.

KATIE AT D'GIVE'S.

Miss Putnam opened her engagement at DeGive's last night to a large house—and a critical one.

Miss Putnam has always been an Atlanta favorite, and has no room to complain of her reception last night.

The play, a new one to Atlanta theater-goers, is good, and gives Miss Putnam a fine opportunity to display her powers as an emotionalist as well as a comedian. Gay Howard, who glides through life as a sunbeam—that's the way the play bill reads—charms her audience by making smiles and then tears.

The support is good. Edward Gardner as Samuel Smirks, is quite funny, Frank Clofton as presented by Charles Mortimer, is interesting. John W. Burton's work as Dan Bradley, a drunkard, is fine. Miss Cora Redfield makes a fine part of the play as Jane Bradley, who is frail and foolish.

"Loves Finds a Way" will be repeated by Miss Putnam at matinee this afternon, and tonight "Dad's Girl" will be given.

McKee Rankin.

Mr. McKee Rankin, whose name is familiar to theater-goers the country over, will give Atlanta people an opportunity of seeing his latest stage creation, "The Canuck," commencing next Monday evening, at DeGive's opera house, for two nights. "The Canuck" is a comedy-drama in four acts, introducing a character new to the stage, Jean Baptiste Cadeaux. Cadeaux is an old French farmer, and is positively one of the greatest pieces of character work ever seen on any stage, as presented by Mr. Rankin, whose robust figure, deep and powerful voice, and remarkable creative genius fit him for the part perfectly. An exchange quotes the following: "The character of Jean Baptiste Cardeaux, as played by Mr. Rankin, is a masterpiece, and deserves to rank as one of the great successes of the present day." There is plenty of good comedy, and several original songs and dances introduced with incidental music. Mr. Rankin is supported by his original New York company.

WHAT TO EAT,
And Where to Get It.

During the Lenten season the question of what to eat has its share of thought.

Nearly all, who are in any way interested, decide upon a suitable selection of some delicacy in fish.

For instance, what is more palatable for breakfast than a fine mackerel? Not the ordinary, poor tasteless mackerel, but a large, fat, fancy quality bloater mackerel. If you have never eaten a fine, fancy bloater, you do not know what mackerel are. We have received another lot of extra quality bloaters, and invite a trial of them.

The smoked halibut are also of fine quality and flavor.

You will find something nice in our Yarmouth smoked herring.

For dinner what could be nicer than McMenamen's crabs, put up in cans? With every 2-pound can we give eight shells, and properly baked and dressed it makes a tempting dish.

Then we have the imported whole herring in cans. It requires very little preparation, and makes a nice dish for supper.

Then we have brook trout in cans; also, an extra quality canned Columbia river salmon, put up in self-opening cans.

We have especially fancy French sardines, packed in genuine olive oil.

A nice clam chowder, properly prepared, commends it to the taste of a great many, to those we can say that the brand of clam chowder which we have is the very best.

In dried or evaporated fruits we can supply the most fastidious.

Our evaporated apricots are a beauty and our peaches are unexcelled.

The peaches are first halved, then carefully dried, and retain all the flavor of the fresh peach.

The large, fancy evaporated pears are also of fine quality and flavor.

Also the best quality of California prunes and of French prunes and prunelles.

You can find the greatest variety of plenty good things at our store.

We have carefully selected each article and you can always be assured of getting only the best and freshest goods.

Remember we guarantee each and every article sold, to be first-class in every particular.

Pleased customers are our best advertisement, and it is our aim and purpose, always, by the best qualit of goods and by fair and courteous treatment, to please all. Come and try us.

Is Your Disease Chronic?

There are numberless old chronic cases, that the medical profession acknowledge they cannot master.

The record that S. S. S. has made in curing this class of diseases is without a parallel. It matters not what is the origin of the complaint or of how long standing, S. S. S. is almost infallible as a curative agent.

In cases of general debility, shattered constitution, or worn out system, it is without an equal. It cures old sores, ulcers and gun-shot wounds that refuse to heal up under any other treatment.

BARGAINS FOR THE HIGH AND LOW.

Do you understand the conditions? Simple enough. The stock that now fills the shelves will in three months be unseasonable. We must accelerate the outgo of Winter Clothing in order to have space for bright, new Spring styles. The time has come to cut deep into the heart of profits. Nothing shall be spared. Suits, Overcoats, Underwear. Twenty-five per cent discount allowed on everything that touches cold weather wear. It is wisdom to buy now for next year. Many have been doing so. Your dollars can't possibly earn larger interest. This is not a closing out sale of any wrecked concern. Just a repetition of what annually occurs here. When the period arrives for the reception of fresh goods we spur the old into the quickest sort of gait. The money to be saved is exactly 25c on the $1.00.
